Chamber Directors Hear Report

Sidewalk Sales Slated July 13

Final plans are being made for Circleville's annual Old-Fashioned Sidewalk Sales, according to Ward Skinner, chairman of the Retail Merchants Assn.

The sales promotion event is slated here next Thursday, July 13, and nearly all plans have been completed, Skinner told Directors of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting on Monday.

George Fuhrman, chairman for the gifts drawing of the promotion, announced that drawings will be held hourly from 4-9 p. m.

The gifts program will be handled much the same as last year. Participating merchants will give numbered tickets to customers prior to the special sales event.

WINNING numbers will be posted each hour in the windows of all participating merchants beginning with the 4 p. m. drawing. Fuhrman added that winners will have one hour to claim their prize. Those that are not claimed will be added to the list of "giveaways" the following hour.

Many bargains, free gifts, strolling singers and musical groups are among the day's attractions. Sales personnel will wear straw hats or bonnets to add to the "old-fashioned" flavor of the day.

Another feature will be the Circleville Art League's sidewalk display across from the post office building on S. Court St. A strolling clown will have balloons for the kiddies, and the Fraternal Order of Police will again sell sandwiches. An added attraction this year will be a watermelon stand on E. Main St.

Special guests at the Monday session of the Chamber's board of directors were James D. Stambaugh, Berger Hospital administrator, and Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

E. G. Parsons, area development chairman, reported meeting with the County Commissioners and City Council to ask their sanction for the chamber to form a Community Improvement Corporation.

Purpose of such a corporation would be to secure financing for industrial expansion at a lower rate of interest, through taxfree municipal bonds.

FOLLOWING an explanation of the workings of a CIC and a question and answer period both the city and county officials voiced their approval, Parsons said. The chamber will now proceed with the legal work to form a Community Improvement Corp.

The Student Summer Employment program has been quite successful for a first-year project, reported Wayne E. Smith, chairman. Smith said that a total of 181 students had registered; approximately 20 full-time and 27 part-time positions have been filled. The employment office will remain open from 8-10 a. m. through Aug. 18th, Smith noted.

Lewis Cook Jr. announced tentative plans for the Agri-Business bus trip on Sept. 13, when businessmen will visit four farm operations in the county. Cook said that tickets for the tour will be available on a first come, first serve basis.

Lake Geneva Is Recovering From Holiday

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—This resort city in southern Wisconsin looked like its pleasant self this morning, instead of the armed camp it had been since being invaded Saturday by restless, rock-throwing youngsters.

Sheriff Alex Johnson said the weekend was "the worst Lake Geneva has ever experienced. It was the first time we had to call out the National Guard."

Sheriff's deputies and 600 Guardsmen—aided by chilly weather—kept taut order Tuesday, maintaining roadblocks which closed the city to all but residents.

Today townspeople and state officials began assessing the damage and the cause of the outbursts which sent about 300 youngsters of high school and college age to jail during the weekend.

Adj. Gen. Ralph Olson said National Guardsmen began leaving Tuesday evening.

Olson said his officers found that most of the youths involved during the weekend apparently were from out of state, chiefly from Chicago and its northern suburbs.

Officials estimated 3,000 to 5,000 young people began arriving for the holiday Saturday evening.

Negotiations Resume

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Negotiations resumed today in the 76-day strike against the nation's top rubber producers that has idled more than 32,000 United Rubber Workers Union members.

TWA Jetliner Lands at OSU Airport

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An investigation was reported under way today in what appeared to be a "goof" of a TWA pilot of a Boeing 707 jetliner which landed at Ohio State University's Don Scott Field Tuesday instead of its destination, Port Columbus.

While the investigation is under way, the pilot has been grounded.

While the pilot, Capt. Howard Chittenden, 43, set the big plane down safely on the 4,400-foot runway at Don Scott, with room to spare, it caused some inconvenience to 49 passengers left about 10 miles northwest of their destination.

Taxicabs were called into service to switch the passengers to Port Columbus, but the pilot had to wait until daylight Tuesday to transfer his plane to the big airport, which is on a similar east-west line with Don Scott Field.

Passengers on the misdirected flight did not know of the incident until after landing. A TWA spokesman reported that the pilot had been flying on instrument flight rules but switched to visual flight rules upon nearing Columbus, and mistook the lights of Don Scott Field for those of Port Columbus after getting in below the overcast.

Airport officials said he had wisely decided not to abort the landing after committing himself on his approach to Don Scott.

Mrs. Wallace In Texas for Examination

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Cancer specialists studied Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace's medical records today before starting tests to determine the extent of a recurrent malignancy.

The nation's only woman governor, who thought she had won the battle against cancer 18 months ago, brought the files with her Tuesday when she entered a highly regarded tumor clinic.

After the diagnostic tests, the 40-year-old mother of four may undergo surgery, as she did in Montgomery, Ala., in January, 1966.

Smiling and in good spirits, the sun-tanned governor stepped off a private plane at the Houston airport shortly after noon Tuesday and rode across town, behind a police escort, to the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital.

She was accompanied by her husband, George, who preceded her as governor and is a possible candidate for president next year, and by their eldest daughter, Mrs. James Parsons. Also making the trip from Montgomery aboard a twin-engine turboprop plane was a family friend, Mary Jo Ventress of Montgomery.

At the entrance to the 300-bed hospital the governor was asked by a newsman how she felt.

"Fine, thank you," she smiled. "I feel fine." Nervous? "Not at all," she replied.

Everybody Happy Over Love-In LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Even the dozen policemen on duty found this love-in a happy event.

As 3,000 persons gathered at Long Beach recreational park, a young hippie gave one policeman a marigold.

"I never had so many people say hello to me before—not just the hippies but everybody around," said Police Lt. Forest H. Smith.

"I wouldn't mind if they came back again."

Holiday Traffic Leaves 704 Dead

Soviets Appear Big UN Losers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union emerges as the obvious loser in the failure of the U.N. General Assembly to find a formula for dealing with the explosive situation left in the wake of the Arab-Israeli war.

There were other losers, including the Arabs and the United Nations itself. But as the initiator of the move for the emergency session, the Kremlin came out empty handed.

If the session was intended as a propaganda project to divert attention from the Soviet setback in the Middle East, as some have said, it proved to be a boomerang.

To measure the extent of the Soviet setback, it is necessary to recall that the emergency assembly was convened because the Russians said the Security Council was unable to cope with the situation.

The implication was that the Soviet Union expected to get the assembly to do what the council refused to do: condemn Israel and call for unconditional withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territory.

The United States opposed the move, contending that the council had not exhausted all possibilities for action. The Russians looked even worse because they brought Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and the heads of a number of allied governments to New York to lend prestige to the session.

The assembly not only refused to condemn Israel; it refused to adopt any proposal calling for the withdrawal of Israeli forces.

If the Arabs felt the Russians had let them down by failing to send them military aid during the war with Israel, they must have felt similar frustration when Moscow proved unable to muster any action in the assembly.

Long before the Soviet Union began soft-pedaling its demands for condemnation of Israel, the Arabs were lining up behind the nonaligned resolution which made no mention of condemnation.

In the end, both the Russians and the Arabs would have been happy to settle for a simple call for withdrawal of Israeli troops, but they were unable to get even that.

The United Nations suffered because the voting demonstrated that the emergence of the new Asian and African nations had created a split that could block effective action on the Middle East—a problem which had been handled successfully by the assembly in the past.

Thus the Middle East was added to the list of issues outside the range of effective U.N. action.

GM To Fight Guaranteed Annual Wage

DETROIT (AP)—Five days before contract talks open, General Motors has served notice that it will fight guaranteed annual income, the pet demand of United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

The largest U.S. automaker released Tuesday a 12-page booklet detailing some income guarantees already given to UAW-represented GM workers.

The action was a public indication of what GM executives have made plain in private, where, with newsmen, they have scoffed at Reuther's "scheme to pay people for not working."

"We can't guarantee anybody's income until somebody can guarantee us a market," one said. "If a guy can draw his pay even if he isn't working, who would work? I wouldn't."

The development gave strength to fears that this year's auto-labor negotiations have as much strike potential as any previous sessions.

Reuther has said the 1.4 million-member UAW will agree to no contract that lacks a guaranteed income provision.

He contends a worker must know at the start of the year what his base pay will be for the next 12 months—and that the worker must draw this pay even if laid off.

Reuther has not outlined his guaranteed income plan in detail.

Contract talks on new three-year contracts with GM, Ford and Chrysler open Monday. The existing pact expires Sept. 1.

Cleveland Man Shoots Boy, 12, For Making Noise

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 49-year-old Cleveland man was charged with second-degree murder today in the shooting of a boy who had been setting off firecrackers in his neighborhood.

It had been reported at first that the boy, Casimir Awin, 12, was killed by fireworks Tuesday night.

But Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said a bullet through the boy's heart had killed him instantly.

Charged by Garfield Heights detectives was Orville C. Kruse. Casimir and his brother, Stanley Awin Jr., 16, had been setting off firecrackers near their home.

Police said Kruse told them he was upset by the fireworks and fired his gun, aiming over the boys' heads to frighten them.

Ohio's Toll For Period Totals 37

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The long holiday weekend ended with a record number of traffic deaths for an Independence Day period.

The total climbed to 704, far over the previous mark of 576 set during last year's three-day observance of the Fourth of July. The four-day weekend toll reached into the lower end of the National Safety Council's advance estimate of 700 to 800, and exceeded the 530 tally made by The Associated Press during a nonholiday weekend of equal duration.

The nonholiday period was from 6 p. m. Friday June 16 to midnight Tuesday June 20.

The holiday tabulation period began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at midnight Tuesday.

During this year's Memorial Day holiday, also a four-day observance, 608 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents. It was a record for that holiday.

"The large number of traffic fatalities over the Fourth of July weekend once again points up the urgent necessity for strong public support to gain speedy adoption by the states of badly needed traffic safety programs," commented the safety council's executive vice president, John B. Lawlor.

Such programs, he said, include improved law enforcement, better licensing practices and other steps.

Highway police went on extra shifts across the country as thousands of motorists took to the roads.

Howard Pyle, safety council president, said that last year an average of 6.6 persons were killed each hour in traffic accidents. The hourly figure from reports for this July 4 period was 6.54.

This year's Independence Day record continues an upward swing of traffic deaths that have set records for most recent holiday periods.

Ohio Highway Toll Deployed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highway Safety, deploing the state's 37 traffic fatalities during the long July 4 holiday period, reported Wednesday that the toll was the second largest since the department started keeping holiday records in 1951.

The holiday period of the count began at 6 p. m. Friday and extended to midnight Tuesday.

This holiday's toll was exceeded only by the 41 killed in 1965. Last year the toll was 35. Victims this year included 31 motorists, four motorcycleists and two pedestrians.

Not one of the auto occupants wore a protective seat belt, although 15 had them available, the report said. Data was not available in three cases, and 13 had no belts installed.

Improper speed was blamed in 16 deaths, failure to yield right-of-way in 6, driving off roadway in 7, and a defective vehicle in 1.

Romney May Enter New Hampshire Race

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney, speaking from the porch of a lakefront home, said today that if he decides to become a presidential candidate, "I will enter the New Hampshire primary and if I do enter, I will enter to win."

Romney, looking comfortable in a green sport shirt and grey checked jacket, began a four-day working vacation in New Hampshire's lake country during which he will meet with top Republican leaders and with supporters of his possible presidential bid.

Nuclears May Be Used for Digging Canal

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. engineers are considering underground nuclear explosions with a force of up to 10 million tons of TNT to blast out a new sea-level canal across Central America, it was learned Tuesday.

An Atomic Energy Commission source said that would be 50 times bigger than any underground atomic explosion yet tested by the United States.

The AEC source said Army engineer specialists, making preliminary studies, believe the largest single excavation explosion might range up to 10 million tons, or 10 megatons.

The smallest might be the equivalent of 200,000 tons of TNT—about the size of the largest below-ground test in Nevada.

Attention was focused on the canal question anew last week when it was announced that the United States and Panama concluded agreement on new treaties dealing with the possible building of a new sea-level canal and operation of the present Panama Canal.

There has been no decision yet on which of four possible sites to use for a new canal. Two are in Panama—one of them the present 46-mile Panama lock canal which could be converted. A third possible route runs through Colombia and a fourth along the border of Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

The excavating method to be used also has not been determined.

However, on the basis of comparative cost, nuclear explosions apparently are being given considerable support except for the present Panama Canal route. If chosen, it probably would be excavated by conventional explosives because of the population in its vicinity.

Updated studies by the Panama Canal Co., the Army Corps of Engineers and the AEC have narrowed the choice of routes for nuclear excavation to two running through unpopulated jungles.

One is a 44-mile stretch in Panama from San Miguel Bay on the Pacific to Caladonia Bay in the Caribbean. The other is a 100-mile route in Colombia from Humbolt Bay to the Gulf of Darien.

Another potential nuclear route, which appears to be lagging in consideration, is a 138-mile stretch along the Costa Rica-Nicaragua border.

Explosion Mars Ashville Celebration

The annual Ashville Fourth of July Festival was marred by injuries to at least six persons when a fireworks skyrocket failed to function properly, exploding in the crowd.

Admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of burns to her face and legs was Darlene Richards, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Richards of Ashville.

She was taken to the hospital by Ashville Mayor Charles Morrison.

Five persons were treated by Ashville physician Dr. W. R. Hoffman for more minor burns. They included: Mrs. Tope and her son of Obetz; Mrs. Thomas of Circleville; Mrs. Charles Hill of Circleville; Yvonne McCain 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kester McCain, Circleville.

The accident at the Ashville celebration was the only mishap to mar an otherwise safe holiday in Pickaway County.

The county's highways were comparatively accident-free with only one reported by the Sheriff's Department and one by Circleville Police.

Meredith Says His March Was Partial Success

CANTON, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith characterizes his march through Mississippi as, "at best, the beginning of the end for fear and injustice."

The last steps of the 165-mile walk brought the 34-year-old civil rights figure to the courthouse square here on Independence Day.

Meredith said the completion of his 11-day march "does not signal a victory. It is a greater manifestation of the black world's historical, traditional and more fundamental defeat."

He said he had failed in one of his primary purposes because "the fear that permeates the life of the Negro in the United States has not been eliminated."

But he said he exposed that fear.

"If Negroes no longer fear," he told about 40 Negroes who gathered as he spoke, "then the whites have only two choices: to kill them or let them be free."

Romney May Enter New Hampshire Race

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney, speaking from the porch of a lakefront home, said today that if he decides to become a presidential candidate, "I will enter the New Hampshire primary and if I do enter, I will enter to win."

Romney, looking comfortable in a green sport shirt and grey checked jacket, began a four-day working vacation in New Hampshire's lake country during which he will meet with top Republican leaders and with supporters of his possible presidential bid.

Nuclears May Be Used for Digging Canal

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. engineers are considering underground nuclear explosions with a force of up to 10 million tons of TNT to blast out a new sea-level canal across Central America, it was learned Tuesday.

An Atomic Energy Commission source said that would be 50 times bigger than any underground atomic explosion yet tested by the United States.

The AEC source said Army engineer specialists, making preliminary studies, believe the largest single excavation explosion might range up to 10 million tons, or 10 megatons.

The smallest might be the equivalent of 200,000 tons of TNT—about the size of the largest below-ground test in Nevada.

Attention was focused on the canal question anew last week when it was announced that the United States and Panama concluded agreement on new treaties dealing with the possible building of a new sea-level canal and operation of the present Panama Canal.

There has been no decision yet on which of four possible sites to use for a new canal. Two are in Panama—one of them the present 46-mile Panama lock canal which could be converted. A third possible route runs through Colombia and a fourth along the border of Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

The excavating method to be used also has not been determined.

However, on the basis of comparative cost, nuclear explosions apparently are being given considerable support except for the present Panama Canal route. If chosen, it probably would be excavated by conventional explosives because of the population in its vicinity.

Updated studies by the Panama Canal Co., the Army Corps of Engineers and the AEC have narrowed the choice of routes for nuclear excavation to two running through unpopulated jungles.

One is a 44-mile stretch in Panama from San Miguel Bay on the Pacific to Caladonia Bay in the Caribbean. The other is a 106-mile route in Colombia from Humboldt Bay to the Gulf of Darien.

Another potential nuclear route, which appears to be lagging in consideration, is a 138-mile stretch along the Costa Rica-Nicaragua border.

Court Dismisses Civil Action

A suit seeking $2,486.56 from Hessler Laboratories of Orient was dismissed from the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court docket.

The case was dismissed "without prejudice" at the request of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the plaintiff in the legal action.

Blames Government

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Timothy Sampson, director of the Welfare Education Fund, told a recent race relations institute that the federal government is, in effect, sponsoring poverty when it provides welfare payments of less than it says a family needs to keep above the poverty level. He said the average welfare grant to a family of four is $1,750 while the federal government says that family needs $3,150 annually.

Cincinnati Has Riotless 4th of July

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati got through the Fourth of July night without any serious recurrences of racial violence that had kept police and firemen on the run Monday night and early Tuesday.

There were sporadic trouble calls, some rock throwing and a few minor fires apparently caused by fire bombs. All of the fires were extinguished quickly.

There were 43 fire runs Monday night and early Tuesday. Eighteen were false alarms.

Most of the fires and violence both nights were in the predominantly Negro Avondale area, where a more serious outbreak occurred three weeks ago.

Police reports showed a half dozen persons arrested Tuesday night to go with the eight arrested the night before.

Meanwhile, City Safety Director Henry Sandman said he did not anticipate any further difficulty but added, "We are prepared for what might come. Command personnel have been alerted and extra police are available."

He called the Monday night rioting "just plain lawlessness" and said that since the June rioting, when the National Guard had to be called in "this town has been taking action to correct conditions."

Eight persons face trial on charges of disorderly conduct as the result of Monday night's outbreak. Police said they restored order by around 3:30 a.m. and beefed-up patrols cruised the streets of the two districts about three to four miles north-east of downtown Cincinnati Tuesday night.

The Cincinnati Sash Door Co. plant at the northern edge of Avondale was destroyed by known. Fire Chief Bert Lukanani estimated damage at $1 million.

Firemen said there were 43 fire alarms—18 of them false—Monday night and early Tuesday. Firemen were stoned at some fire scenes.

The Ohio National Guard had to be called out to help police quell racial disturbances June 12-13 that resulted in more than 350 arrests and $2.5 million in damages.

Complaint List Is High On Holiday

Circleville Police received a number of complaints over the holiday.

Joe Moats reported Wednesday morning that during the night someone had removed a 12-volt battery from a parked car at his lot on Lancaster Pike.

The new battery was replaced with an older model. Value was set at $35.

Mattie Bosworth, 821 S. Clinton St. reported Tuesday that someone had thrown wet corn meal on her house trailer.

Ray Davis, Montclair Ave., reported that three tires were left in his yard. After investigation by Police, the tires were returned to the owners.

Jack Heeter, 105 Walnut St., told Police that someone had entered Jack's Bar and taken keys and $20 in change.

When he returned the next morning, the front door was unlocked, reported Heeter. There was no sign of forced entry.

Dewey Blevins, 207 W. Main St., reported that $74 had been removed from a billboard in his apartment Tuesday.

According to the report on file in the Police Dept., Blevins said that a woman, identifying herself as his niece, and four men came to his room and stayed a short time. When they left, Blevins discovered that the money was missing.

British Can't Confirm Report Of Executions

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Defense Ministry said today it has heard nothing to confirm a report that six British soldiers were executed by Arab nationalists in Aden last week after being tried as "war criminals."

The ministry said British troops had been involved in no serious incidents in Aden since 18 Britons were killed and 22 wounded in an Arab police mutiny June 20.

Newspapers in Cairo carried front-page stories today reporting the execution of the six soldiers in the Crater district which the nationalists seized last week. British troops retook the area Monday.

CORN BORER CHECK — George Hamrick, county extension agent, noted today that corn borer damage in Pickaway County is quite varied — from less than 10 per cent to 100 per cent. A spray control is suggested when 75 per cent of the plants show larvae feeding, he said. Farmers should keep a close check on their fields for borer damage, Hamrick said. The extension agent is shown above checking a field with Don DeLong, near Laurelville.

LBJ and Lady Bird Make A Sentimental Journey

KARNACK, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson took his bride-to-be, Lady Bird, away from this crossroads hamlet 32 years ago in an old coupe. He brought her back Tuesday in a jet-powered presidential helicopter.

The Johnsons spent about 1 1/2 hours touring sentimental landmarks in the area of Mrs. Johnson's hometown and visiting with old friends before returning to their LBJ Ranch near Johnson City. They may remain there through next weekend.

Earlier in the holiday the First Family witnessed the baptism of their first grandchild, Patrick Lyndon Nugent.

Mrs. Johnson asked the President to take her back to her home town since they planned to be in Texarkana, just 50

Wooster College President Lowry Is Heart Victim

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Howard Foster Lowry, president of the College of Wooster since 1944, died Tuesday at the home of a friend in Oakland, Calif. He would have been 66 on July 26.

Funeral services will be at Memorial Chapel on the campus here at 2 p.m. Friday.

A bachelor, Dr. Lowry had lived here alone since his mother, Mrs. Lewis Lowry, died in 1960. A college spokesman said there were no known survivors.

College trustees were called to meet July 12 to consider steps toward selecting a successor.

Death, apparently from a heart attack, came while Dr. Lowry was visiting at the home of a friend, Miss Gretchen Harmon, in Oakland. He had been talking and suddenly slumped in his chair. He was dead on arrival at a hospital in Oakland early Tuesday morning.

McNamara Makes 9th Viet Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will fly to Vietnam tonight on his ninth trip "to review all aspects of the war," the Pentagon announced.

McNamara had planned to go earlier but delayed his departure when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin came to the United States.

Accompanying the defense chief will be several top civilian and military leaders including Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler.

The Pentagon did not specify how long McNamara will be gone. His trips are usually brief.

Commissioners Award Paving To Van Camp

Pickaway County Commissioners during a light pre-holiday session Monday opened bids for resurfacing 52.25 miles of road and for the purchase of 64 chairs for the common pleas court.

The lone bid received for paving the roads was submitted by George W. Van Camp. It was in the amount of $150,523.98. Commissioners Lloyd Melvin, Charles Morris and Wayne Hines voted to award the contract to Van Camp.

The engineer's estimate for the cost of the paving was $151,419.98.

No action was taken on the only bid for chairs for spectators in the common pleas court room.

The bid submitted by Paul A. Johnson was $51 per chair for 64 chairs.

Ohio's Toll

The record death count for any four-day holiday was set last Thanksgiving when 748 persons were killed.

Since the start of the Independence day at 6 p.m. Friday, boating accidents killed 46 persons, and 175 persons drowned.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Fourth of July holiday period in Ohio apparently proved that it's easier to make predictions about traffic deaths than it is to prevent them.

At least 38 persons died in Buckeye State accidents during the 102-hour period that ended at midnight Tuesday. The total was two over the toll predicted by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, which conducted a campaign to keep the number down.

Only two states—Texas and California—had higher tolls. A two-car collision Monday night near Orrville and a one-car accident Saturday near Norwalk took three lives each. The latest victims:

Miss Dalphine Newby, 25, Newcomerstown, when a car left U. S. 36 east of Newcomerstown early Tuesday.

Janice A. Meyer, 20, Fremont, when a car she was riding in left a rural road near Fremont early Tuesday.

Paula Casel, 18, Middleport, when a car driven by her husband, David, missed a curve along U. S. 33 north of Pomeroy Tuesday.

William McWhorter Jr., 23, Philadelphia, Pa. when a van he was driving upset on Interstate 71 southwest of Columbus Tuesday night.

Mrs. Carrie J. Douglas, 50, Wickliffe, in a two-car collision just before midnight Tuesday night in Willoughby.

Peter DiPaola, 56, Toledo, when his car hit a telephone pole in Toledo late Tuesday night.

Robert Masalko, 21, Navarre, whose car crashed off U.S. 62 just south of Navarre Tuesday night.

Walter Haas, 73, died late Tuesday when an auto hit his trailer home along Ohio 27 near New Miami. Dr. Garret J. Boone, Butler County coroner, ruled it a traffic death.

DMZ Has Become War's Bloodiest Battleground

SAIGON (AP) —The mountains, rolling hills and flatlands just below the demilitarized zone, the border with North Vietnam, have become Vietnam's bloodiest battle ground.

About 1,000 Marines have been killed and about 7,000 wounded this year in ambushes, pitched battles, artillery barrages and rocket and mortar attacks. This is roughly two-thirds of the 12,000 combat infantrymen in the 57,000-man 3rd Marine Amphibious Force, but many of the wounded were treated in the field without leaving their units or were out of action a few days or a few weeks.

Congo President Says Commandos Land by Plane

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP)—Two unidentified planes landed a group of foreign commandos today at the airport of Kisangani in the northeast Congo. President Joseph D. Mobutu said.

The Congo radio had claimed Tuesday night that 200 Belgian mercenaries were ready to fly to the Congo and free Moise Tshombe if the ex-premier is expedited from Algiers, where he is being held.

Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, is about 775 miles northeast of Kinshasa. It is a former rebel stronghold.

In a radio address to the nation, Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked Bukavu, near the Rwanda border 320 miles southeast of Kisangani.

The situation throughout the eastern Congo is tense, the Congo radio said.

Mobutu made no attempt to link the reported landings with Tshombe, but the official Algerian news agency implied that they were part of a plot to overthrow Mobutu and reinstate Tshombe, who faces death if he is handed over to the Congo by Algeria.

Tennessee Dam Danger Lessens

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (AP) — A danger still exists at the water-damaged Laurel Hill Dam, but officials of the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission say it is less today.

Two valves were opened Tuesday, increasing to nearly 130 million gallons a day the water output through a sluice tunnel, and thus reducing water pressure which threatens to break the earthen dam.

The 24-inch valves, along with another valve which has been partially open since Friday, will lower the water to a safe level within two weeks, Les Ham, a commission engineer, predicted.

Mart Makes Good Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied vigorously early this afternoon as Wall Streeters returned to their desks, many of them after a four-day weekend.

Gainers outnumbered losers by more than 2 to 1 as prices rose on a broad front, blue chips as well as the more volatile glamor issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.8 at 325.0 with industries up 2.8 raise up 1.3 and utilities up .4. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.67 at 866.45.

Joe Moats reported Wednesday morning that during the night someone had removed a 12-volt battery from a parked car at his lot on Lancaster Pike.

The new battery was replaced with an older model. Value was set at $35.

Mattie Bosworth, 321 S. Clinton St. reported Tuesday that someone had thrown wet corn meal on her house trailer.

Ray Davis, Montclair Ave., reported that three tires were left in his yard. After investigation by Police, the tires were returned to the owners.

Jack Heeter, 105 Walnut St., told Police that someone had entered Jack's Bar and taken keys and $20 in change.

When he returned the next morning, the front door was unlocked, reported Heeter. There was no sign of forced entry.

Dewey Blevins, 297 W. Main St., reported that $74 had been removed from a billfold in his apartment Tuesday.

According to the report on file in the Police Dept., Blevins said that a woman, identifying herself as his niece, and four men came to his room and stayed a short time. When they left, Blevins discovered that the money was missing.

Court Dismisses Civil Action

A suit seeking $2,486.56 from Hessler Laboratories of Orient was dismissed from the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court docket.

The case was dismissed "without prejudice" at the request of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the plaintiff in the legal action.

Blames Government

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Timothy Sampson, director of the Welfare Education Fund, told a recent race relations institute that the federal government is, in effect, sponsoring poverty when it provides welfare payments of less than it says a family needs to keep above the poverty level. He said the average welfare grant to a family of four is $1,750 while the federal government says that family needs $3,150 annually.

Cincinnati Has Riotless 4th of July

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati got through the Fourth of July night without any serious recurrences of racial violence that had kept police and firemen on the run Monday night and early Tuesday.

There were sporadic trouble calls, some rock throwing and a few minor fires apparently caused by fire bombs. All of the fires were extinguished quickly.

There were 43 fire runs Monday night and early Tuesday. Eighteen were false alarms.

Most of the fires and violence both nights were in the predominantly Negro Avondale area, where a more serious outbreak occurred three weeks ago.

Police reports showed a half dozen persons arrested Tuesday night to go with the eight arrested the night before.

Meanwhile, City Safety Director Henry Sandman said he did not anticipate any further difficulty but added, "We are prepared for what might come. Command personnel have been alerted and extra police are available."

He called the Monday night rioting "just plain lawlessness" and said that since the June rioting, when the National Guard had to be called in "this town has been taking action to correct conditions."

Eight persons face trial on charges of disorderly conduct as the result of Monday night's outbreak. Police said they restored order by around 3:30 a.m. and beefed-up patrols cruised the streets of the two districts about three to four miles north-east of downtown Cincinnati Tuesday night.

The Cincinnati Sash Door Co. plant at the northern edge of Avondale was destroyed by known. Fire Chief Bert Luginani estimated damage at $1 million.

Firemen said there were 43 fire alarms—18 of them false—Monday night and early Tuesday. Firemen were stoned at some fire scenes.

The Ohio National Guard had to be called out to help police quell racial disturbances June 12-13 that resulted in more than 350 arrests and $2.5 million in damages.

Complaint List Is High On Holiday

Circleville Police received a number of complaints over the holiday.

Joe Moats reported Wednesday morning that during the night someone had removed a 12-volt battery from a parked car at his lot on Lancaster Pike.

The new battery was replaced with an older model. Value was set at $35.

Mattie Bosworth, 321 S. Clinton St. reported Tuesday that someone had thrown wet corn meal on her house trailer.

Ray Davis, Montclair Ave., reported that three tires were left in his yard. After investigation by Police, the tires were returned to the owners.

Jack Heeter, 105 Walnut St., told Police that someone had entered Jack's Bar and taken keys and $20 in change.

When he returned the next morning, the front door was unlocked, reported Heeter. There was no sign of forced entry.

Dewey Blevins, 297 W. Main St., reported that $74 had been removed from a billfold in his apartment Tuesday.

According to the report on file in the Police Dept., Blevins said that a woman, identifying herself as his niece, and four men came to his room and stayed a short time. When they left, Blevins discovered that the money was missing.

British Can't Confirm Report Of Executions

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Defense Ministry said today it has heard nothing to confirm a report that six British soldiers were executed by Arab nationalists in Aden last week after being tried as "war criminals."

The ministry said British troops had been involved in no serious incidents in Aden since 18 Britons were killed and 22 wounded in an Arab police mutiny June 20.

Newspapers in Cairo carried front-page stories today reporting the execution of the six soldiers in the Crater district which the nationalists seized last week. British troops retook the area Monday.

CORN BORER CHECK—George Hamrick, county extension agent, noted today that corn borer damage in Pickaway County is quite varied — from less than 10 per cent to 100 per cent. A spray control is suggested when 75 per cent of the plants show larvae feeding, he said. Farmers should keep a close check on their fields for borer damage, Hamrick said. The extension agent is shown above checking a field with Don DeLong, near Laurelville.

LBJ and Lady Bird Make A Sentimental Journey

KARNACK, Tex. (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson took his bride-to-be, Lady Bird, away from this crossroads hamlet 32 years ago in an old coupe. He brought her back Tuesday in a jet-powered presidential helicopter.

The Johnsons spent about 1 1/2 hours touring sentimental landmarks in the area of Mrs. Johnson's hometown and visiting with old friends before returning to their LBJ Ranch near Johnson City. They may remain there through next weekend.

Earlier in the holiday the First Family witnessed the baptism of their first grandchild, Patrick Lyndon Nugent.

Mrs. Johnson asked the President to take her back to her home town since they planned to be in Texarkana, just 50 miles to the north, for the funeral of Mrs. Wright Patman, wife of the Texas Democrat who is chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

The Chief Executive obliged with the helicopter trip to Karnack, near the Louisiana border in the piney woods country of East Texas.

Here the most prominent landmark is a dilapidated, two-story brick building—once a general store—that still bears the name, in fading red paint, of Mrs. Johnson's father, who died in 1960.

The sign reads: "T.J. Taylor—dealer in everything."

Taylor was the community's biggest landowner and cotton planter. His widow, Ruth Taylor, the First Lady's stepmother, still occupies the family home—an antebellum mansion on the outskirts of town built with slave labor and plantation-made bricks in 1854.

Mrs. Taylor welcomed Mrs. Johnson there.

From Karnack, the Johnsons flew by helicopter to Barksdale Air Force Base at Shreveport, La., then flew nonstop by jet to the ranch.

Publicly, the Johnson day began in late morning when members of the family drove a couple of miles up the road from the ranch to St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church in Stonewall.

The center of attraction was Patrick Lyndon Nugent, born 13 days earlier to the President's daughter Luci and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent.

The baptismal service was private. But the Johnsons and Nugents willingly passed the baby around like a football afterwards for the benefit of photographers.

In early afternoon, the President, Mrs. Johnson and their home district Democratic congressman, Jake Pickle, flew to Texarkana, Ark., then drove to the Texas community of the same name for Baptist funeral services for the 73-year-old Mrs. Patman. They followed the body to the cemetery from the church, then boarded the helicopter for Karnack.

27 Cyclists Held For Court Action

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Scheduled for appearance in Lorain County Juvenile Court today were 27 members of a motorcycle club who were arrested following a disturbance at nearby South Amherst.

Complaints from nearby residents led to the arrest of the cyclists—14 adults and 13 juveniles—in a woods Monday night. The adults were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors and the juveniles with delinquency.

Commissioners Award Paving To Van Camp

Pickaway County Commissioners during a light pre-holiday session Monday opened bids for resurfacing 52.25 miles of road and for the purchase of 64 chairs for the common pleas court.

The lone bid received for paving the roads was submitted by George W. Van Camp. It was in the amount of $150,523.98. Commissioners Lloyd Melvin, Charles Morris and Wayne Hines voted to award the contract to Van Camp.

The engineer's estimate for the cost of the paving was $151,419.98.

No action was taken on the only bid for 64 chairs for spectators in the common pleas court room.

The bid submitted by Paul A. Johnson was $51 per chair for 64 chairs.

Ohio's Toll

The record death count for any four-day holiday was set last Thanksgiving when 748 persons were killed.

Since the start of the Independence day at 6 p.m. Friday, boating accidents killed 46 persons, and 175 persons drowned.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Fourth of July holiday period in Ohio apparently proved that it's easier to make predictions about traffic deaths than it is to prevent them.

At least 38 persons died in Buckeye State accidents during the 102-hour period that ended at midnight Tuesday. The total was two over the toll predicted by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, which conducted a campaign to keep the number down.

Only two states—Texas and California—had higher tolls.

A two-car collision Monday night near Orrville and a one-car accident Saturday near Norwalk took three lives each.

The latest victims: Miss Dalphine Newby, 25, Newcomerstown, when a car left U. S. 36 east of Newcomerstown early Tuesday.

Janice A. Meyer, 20, Fremont, when a car she was riding in left a rural road near Fremont early Tuesday.

Paula Casci, 18, Middleport, when a car driven by her husband, David, missed a curve along U. S. 33 north of Pomeroey Tuesday.

William McWhorter Jr., 23, Philadelphia, Pa. when a van he was driving upset on Interstate 71 southwest of Columbus Tuesday night.

Mrs. Carrie J. Douglas, 50, Wickliffe, in a two-car collision just before midnight Tuesday night in Willoughby.

Peter DiPaola, 56, Toledo, when his car hit a telephone pole in Toledo late Tuesday night.

Robert Masalko, 21, Navarre, whose car crashed off U.S. 62 just south of Navarre Tuesday night.

Walter Haas, 73, died late Tuesday of injuries received Saturday when an auto hit his trailer home along Ohio 27 near New Miami. Dr. Garrett J. Boone, Butler County coroner, ruled it a traffic death.

Rhoads Accepts Campbell Position

Brent Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhoads, Route 4, has been accepted for summer employment by the Campbell Soup Co., as a vegetable inspector.

Rhoads, currently working in the Ionia, Mich., plant, will travel throughout eastern and southeastern United States in his summer position.

A 1965 graduate of Logan Elm High School, Rhoads will be a junior at Ohio State University's College of Agriculture where he is majoring in horticulture.

DMZ Has Become War's Bloodiest Battleground

SAIGON (AP)—The mountains, rolling hills and flatlands just below the demilitarized zone, the border with North Vietnam, have become Vietnam's bloodiest battle ground.

About 1,000 Marines have been killed and about 7,000 wounded this year in ambushes, pitched battles, artillery barrages and rocket and mortar attacks. This is roughly two-thirds of the 12,000 combat infantrymen in the 57,000-man 3rd Marine Amphibious Force, but many of the wounded were treated in the field without leaving their units or were out of action a few days or a few weeks.

Congo President Says Commandos Land by Plane

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP)—Two unidentified planes landed a group of foreign commandos today at the airport of Kisangani in the northeast Congo, President Joseph D. Mobutu said.

The Congo radio had claimed Tuesday night that 200 Belgian mercenaries were ready to fly to the Congo and free Moise Tshombe if the ex-premier is expedited from Algiers, where he is being held.

Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, is about 775 miles northeast of Kinshasa. It is a former rebel stronghold.

In a radio address to the nation, Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked Bukavu, near the Rwanda border 320 miles southeast of Kisangani.

The situation throughout the eastern Congo is tense, the Congo radio said.

Mobutu made no attempt to link the reported landings with Tshombe, but the official Algerian news agency implied that they were part of a plot to overthrow Mobutu and reinstate Tshombe, who faces death if he is handed over to the Congo by Algeria.

Tennessee Dam Danger Lessens

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (AP)—A danger still exists at the water-damaged Laurel Hill Dam, but officials of the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission say it is less today.

Two valves were opened Tuesday, increasing to nearly 130 million gallons a day the water output through a sluice tunnel, and thus reducing water pressure which threatens to break the earthen dam.

The 24-inch valves, along with another valve which has been partially open since Friday, will lower the water to a safe level within two weeks, Les Haun, a commission engineer, predicted.

Stork Makes Up For Its Absence

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Jane Case Hospital's maternity ward had a busy morning Wednesday—a set of triplets and a set of twins born within an hour's time after two days in which the stork stayed away from the hospital.

The triplet birth—three girls, was to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christ of Ashley. The twins, a boy and girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Reese of Richwood.

Seeking Out the American

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — What is an American?

Somewhat to the annoyance of other countries in the Western Hemisphere, the people of the United States have appropriated the word "American," both as noun and adjective, as one belonging to them.

The custom started back on Sept. 5, 1774, when Patrick Henry rose and told the Continental Congress:

"I am not a Virginian but an American!"

In the 191 years since the Declaration of Independence in 1776, the United States has managed to become the richest and most powerful nation on earth. Americans have popularized the automobile, the bathtub, the jet plane, the telephone, jazz music and the hamburger. But they haven't been as notably successful in making themselves beloved.

What are Americans really like? What are our virtues and our vices? Here, on our most native of holidays, is a birthday sampler of opinions that have been expressed about us, by partisans and critics:

"They (Americans) are a race of convicts and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging."—Samuel Johnson, 1775.

"All the men in America make money their pursuit."—Richard Parkinson, after touring the country in 1805.

"I have traveled more than four thousand miles about this country; and I never met with one single insolent or rude native American."—Thomas Holme, 1818.

"The American is horn-handed and pig-headed, hard, persevering, unscrupulous, carnivorous, with an incredible genius for lying."—Anonymous.

"America is a country of young men."—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"The Americans, like the English, probably make love worse than any other race."—Walt Whitman, 1856.

"The American is nomadic in religion, in ideas, in morals."—J. R. Lowell, 1864.

"America is the only place where man is full grown!"—Olive Wendell Holmes.

"Our country has liberty without license and authority without despotism."—James Cardinal Gibbons, 1887.

"America is the only idealistic nation in the world."—Woodrow Wilson, 1919.

"You are right in your impression that a number of persons are urging me to come to the United States. But why on earth do you call them my friends?"—Bernard Shaw, 1921.

"America is a tune. It must be sung together."—Gerald Stanley Lee.

"Intellectually, I know that America is not better than any other country; emotionally, I know she is better than every other country."—Sinclair Lewis, 1930.

"God looks after drunks, children, and Americans."—An "old saying," quoted by James Truslow Adams in 1934.

A Negro Man for All Seasons

By John Chamberlain

Timothy Costello, who, as Deputy Mayor, is the New York City Liberal Party's gift to the Administration of nominally Republican Mayor John Lindsay, hardly sees eye to eye with this column on most matters of basic philosophy. Yet, running into Mr. Costello the other night at the Mayor's dinner for the King and Queen of Thailand, I discovered that we had a mutual admiration for the one Negro leader in the New York City area who seems genuinely concerned with putting on a major drive for a "black power" based on Negro self-help on the one hand, and voluntary co-operation with whites in supporting generally useful community activities on the other.

The Negro leader in question is Dr. Thomas Matthew, the Queens County neurosurgeon who started his Interfaith Hospital on a shoestring and who survived ticklish early difficulties to help New York City overcome a hospital bed shortage by taking some of the more refractory cases, both black and white, off the established hospitals' hands. Mr. Costello regards Dr. Matthew as one of those divinely-inspired madmen who succeed in their projects because they don't know when to quit. A pragmatist who doesn't mind using public funds for good purposes, Mr. Costello thinks Dr. Matthew's insistence on financing his hospital out of earned fees is absurdly doctrinaire. Nonetheless, Mr. Costello has supported Dr. Matthew by helping him collect fees owed to his hospital by the City of New York without waiting for bureaucratic budgetary approval that is sometimes months in coming.

The spectacle of a liberal "let-government-do-it" Deputy Mayor coming to the help of a Negro leader who believes in voluntary self-help activity is a titillating one. But it stems from one of Costello's many theories that don't have much to do with abstract political philosophy. Costello has a feeling that, considering the shortage of talented contemporary leaders, no man is worth his salt to society unless he can start things that have multiple purposes. Dr. Matthew's incursion into the hospital field had several ends in view. One, it was intended to prove that Negroes could get things going without begging. Two, it was designed to give Negroes jobs. And three, it was to help the white community of Queens by offering an integrated hospital service to all comers.

But, as things are working out, there is more "multi-purpose" in Dr. Matthew than that. As head of NEGRO (the acronym for Negro Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization), Dr. Matthew has used the going concern of his hospital to branch out in several directions. With a hospital laboratory testing service, he can provide proof of the purity of certain chemicals. From this jumping-off vantage point he has just signed a $200,000 contract with the Department of Defense to provide a purifying chemical, trichloromelanie, for use in South Vietnam. Used in cooking and drinking water, this chemical prevents amoebic dysentery. The Department of Defense awarded the contract to Dr. Matthew on a lowest bid arrangement largely because existing chemical manufacturers cannot be bothered with such a small volume item. But, though $200,000 may be peanuts to the big-time pharmaceutical companies, it could mean 150 jobs for Negroes in the New York City area by the end of 1967.

Another multiple-purpose departure for Dr. Matthew's NEGRO is a bakery, which has begun by baking bread for the Interfaith Hospital. NEGRO also operates a laundry and a clothing factory, both of which came into being to serve the hospital. And NEGRO's new newspaper, the NEGRO News, is providing jobs through its Negro Newsboy Distributors.

Dr. Matthew's criticism of Dr. Martin Luther King is that he is still engaged in the "begging" approach toward solving Negro problems. His criticism of Stokely Carmichael's "black power" drive is that it is long on rhetoric and short on doing anything constructive for the community. "Begging is out," says Dr. Matthew, "and doing is in." He is asking Queens County community leaders to join with him this summer in starting a day care center, a Negro cultural arts center, a family medical center, a program of care and assistance to unwed mothers, and a program of help for drug addicts, without waiting for funds from Washington, D. C.

Dr. King and Mr. Carmichael continue to get the headlines. But Mr. Costello's favorite "madman" is worth a few headlines, too, if only for his gallantry in saying that "if white America provides no money, has no interest and shows no compassion we still owe our children a future and, O.E.O. or no O.E.O. (Office of Economic Opportunity), they are going to have that future in America."

EDITOR'S NOTE—Roy Thinnes, who first came to public attention in "Long, Hot Summer" over a year ago, landed in a successful series when "The Invaders" became an ABC midseason replacement. He plays a harried young man trying to warn authorities that creatures from another planet are trying to take over the earth—scary science fiction and the young crowd love it.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In every dedicated actor's heart lies the desire to come up with immortal lines, even though they are always someone else's.

These lines are far from immortal, but they are sincere, and they are my own:

Please let's try really to listen to our younger generation.

In a democracy where every minority has a voice, it would seem both fair and wise to evaluate the often discordant tremolo of a vital majority, our younger citizens.

Because of my assignment in "The Invaders," I have an opportunity to get closer to them. Our series averages three days of location shooting per episode. This has taken us from industrial areas to the Sunset Strip, from deserts and beaches to agricultural communities.

Wherever we were shooting, we had a crowd of quiet young people on the sidelines. Since those in this age group are too sophisticated to be autograph hounds, their questions made me a little uneasy at first.

They only wanted to communicate, but person-to-person, not on a public-to-TV star basis.

They are all the same — regardless of apparel or hair length—in that they care. Their concerns range from the uneasy world situation and domestic discord to whether or not the aliens from outer space in "The Invaders" should be portrayed as hostile. Incidentally, I have wondered if their friendliness in person and through letters had anything to do with the fact that the character whom I portray is also young and frequently misunderstood.

It is my firm belief that these members of the so-called "upbeat generation" deserve our understanding and respect when they attempt to channel their energies into idealism, tolerance, love. This isn't the way my generation spent its youthful energy. My nose is proof enough. It was broken three times while I was growing up.

Though I certainly can't condone their damaging use of drugs and "pot," we do seem to be offering more clucking disapproval than guidance in this area.

Psychiatrists and educators are agreed that the fact that these youngsters grew up with the reality of the H-bomb, learning under-desk drills with their ABCs, is no more excuse.

They are heirs to a tense, pressured and overpopulated world. There isn't a lot of room for individualism unless they create a new kind.

They're often misguided, pathetic, irritating. They certainly don't have all the answers.

But then neither do we, so it wouldn't hurt to listen.

A WELL-LOVED priest and his oldest friend teed off for their usual twosome on the local golf links—but it soon became evident that this was not going to be one of the priest's better efforts. On the first tee, his divot traveled further than his ball. On the second hole, he plopped three drives into a pond. On the third, he sliced into another fairway and hit an indignant lady player on her ample posterior. When his very next shot hit a tree, his friend was moved to remark, "Father, if this was a heavy-weight fight, they'd have to stop it!"

An aged couple in Edinburgh were in their dining alcove listening to a church service on the radio. Suddenly the old man burst out laughing. "Sandy," cried his horrified wife. "Why this unseemly merriment on the Sabbath?" "Ho, ho," beamed Sandy. "The parson's just announced the collection, and here we are safe at home!"

Jerome Beatty was held up briefly at Niagara by a rather unimpressive funeral procession and felt impelled to mumble, "Just a cortege small by a waterfall . . ." Mr. Beatty compounded this felony by adding, "Show me an arrogant insect and I'll show you a cocky roach."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there any validity that the lines of the palm can indicate certain diseases?

For many years scientists have been intrigued by the possibility that the lines of the palm and hand prints may indicate some types of physical disorder. This is not generally accepted because the lines of the palm are said to be fixed about five months before birth and never vary afterwards.

A new science — dermatoglyphics, or palm reading — believes that the study of heredity may be enhanced by their studies. This will, of course, need confirmation.

For centuries palm reading to foretell the future has been a game of exploitation that entraps the gullible.

It is true, of course, that each human being has a distinct palm and fingerprint. No two are alike.

In the practice of medicine I have come across more than 15 patients who had been terrorized into believing that they had a special disease of a special destiny after an experience with a palm reader. Implanting such fears into the lives of people can be a dreadful aftermath of a "whimsical" experience.

There are far better and more definitive ways of making a diagnosis of disease than by the vague interpretation of the lines of the palm.

Why is the tongue of such importance to the doctor during an examination?

Infections, inflammations, irritations and discolorations of the tongue often indicate to the doctor a disturbance elsewhere in the body. Lack of vitamins are responsible for a smooth, glossy tongue.

Fungus infections may show white patches that are easily recognized. Allergies sometimes show up with swelling of the tongue.

Injuries from jagged teeth, hot spicy foods, tobacco, burns, and alcohol can be recognized by changes in the tongue. Pernicious anemia is associated with distinct changes in the appearance of the tongue.

The tongue is almost a mirror of diseases and disorders elsewhere in the body. Burning sensations in the tongue may be one of the first symptoms of a generalized neurological disorder.

Pigmentation of the tongue is commonly seen as a blackish discoloration in some people who are sensitive to certain antibiotics. Scarlet fever has a characteristic "strawberry tongue."

Tiny patches, called leucoplakia, are early signs of chronic irritation. "A hairy tongue," too, may be the result of antibiotics. This condition is annoying but not dangerous.

The moisture of the tongue is a good indication to the doctor of the fluid balance. The tongue is indeed a most important contributor to the diagnostic skill of the doctor.

Seeking Out the American

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — What is an American?

Somewhat to the annoyance of other countries in the Western Hemisphere, the people of the United States have appropriated the word "American," both as noun and adjective, as one belonging to them.

The custom started back on Sept. 5, 1774, when Patrick Henry rose and told the Continental Congress:

"I am not a Virginian but an American!"

In the 191 years since the Declaration of Independence in 1776, the United States has managed to become the richest and most powerful nation on earth. Americans have popularized the automobile, the bathtub, the jet plane, the telephone, jazz music and the hamburger. But they haven't been as notably successful in making themselves beloved.

What are Americans really like? What are our virtues and our vices? Here, on our most native of holidays, is a birthday sampler of opinions that have been expressed about us, by partisans and critics:

"They (Americans) are a race of convicts and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging."—Samuel Johnson, 1775.

"All the men in America make money their pursuit."—Richard Parkinson, after touring the country in 1805.

"I have traveled more than four thousand miles about this country; and I never met with one single insolent or rude native American."—Thomas Holme, 1818.

"The American is horn-headed and pig-headed, hard, persevering, unscrupulous, carnivorous, with an incredible genius for lying."—Anonymous.

"America is a country of young men."—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"The Americans, like the English, probably make love worse than any other race."—Walt Whitman, 1856.

"The American is nomadic in religion, in ideas, in morals."—J. R. Lowell, 1864.

"America is the only place where man is full grown!"—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"Our country has liberty without license and authority without despotism."—James Cardinal Gibbons, 1887.

"America is the only idealistic nation in the world."—Woodrow Wilson, 1919.

"You are right in your impression that a number of persons are urging me to come to the United States. But why on earth do you call them my friends?"—Bernard Shaw, 1921.

"America is a tune. It must be sung together."—Gerald Stanley Lee.

"Intellectually, I know that America is not better than any other country; emotionally, I know she is better than every other country."—Sinclair Lewis, 1930.

"God looks after drunks, children, and Americans."—An "old saying," quoted by James Truslow Adams in 1934.

A Negro Man for All Seasons

By John Chamberlain

Timothy Costello, who, as Deputy Mayor, is the New York City Liberal Party's gift to the Administration of nominally Republican Mayor John Lindsay, hardly sees eye to eye with this column on most matters of basic philosophy. Yet, running into Mr. Costello the other night at the Mayor's dinner for the King and Queen of Thailand, I discovered that we had a mutual admiration for the one Negro leader in the New York City area who seems genuinely concerned with putting on a major drive for a "black power" based on Negro self-help on the one hand, and voluntary co-operation with whites in supporting generally useful community activities on the other.

The Negro leader in question is Dr. Thomas Matthew, the Queens County neurosurgeon who started his Interfaith Hospital on a shoestring and who survived ticklish early difficulties to help New York City overcome a hospital bed shortage by taking some of the more refractory cases, both black and white, off the established hospitals' hands. In a democracy where every minority has a voice, it would seem both fair and wise to evaluate the often discordant tremolo of a vital majority, our younger citizens.

Because of my assignment in "The Invaders," I have a opportunity to get closer to them. Our series averages three days of location shooting per episode. This has taken us from industrial areas to the Sunset Strip, from deserts and beaches to agricultural communities.

Wherever we were shooting, we had a crowd of quiet young people on the sidelines. Since those in this age group are too sophisticated to be autograph hounds, their questions made me a little uneasy at first.

They only wanted to communicate, but person-to-person, not on a public-TV star basis.

They are all the same — regardless of apparel or hair length—in that they care. Their concerns range from the uneasy world situation and domestic discord to whether or not the aliens from outer space in "The Invaders" should be portrayed as hostile. Incidentally, I have wondered if their friendliness in person and through letters had anything to do with the fact that the character whom I portray is also young and frequently misunderstood.

It is my firm belief that these members of the so-called "upbeat generation" deserve our understanding and respect when they attempt to channel their energies into idealism, tolerance, love. This isn't the way my generation spent its youthful energy. My nose is proof enough. It was broken three times while I was growing up.

Though I certainly can't condone their damaging use of drugs and "pot," we do seem to be offering more clucking disapproval than guidance in this area.

Psychiatrists and educators are agreed that the fact that these youngsters grew up with the reality of the H-bomb, learning under-desk drills with their ABCs, is no more excuse.

They are heirs to a tense, pressured and overpopulated world. There isn't a lot of room for individualism unless they create a new kind.

They're often misguided, pathetic, irritating. They certainly don't have all the answers.

But then neither do we, so it wouldn't hurt to listen.

Tiny patches, called leucoplakia, are early signs of chronic irritation. "A hairy tongue," too, may be the result of antibiotics. This condition is annoying but not dangerous.

The moisture of the tongue is a good indication to the doctor of the fluid balance. The tongue is indeed a most important contributor to the diagnostic skill of the doctor.

100 Glassboro Residents Beg Trip to Russia

GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — A group of residents of this community, where President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin met two days last month, have asked the President to help finance a trip to Russia for 100 townspeople.

In a telegram to Johnson Sunday, the Glassboro Citizens Committee asked for "immediate assistance" to obtain $60,000 to finance a three-week trip as part of an exchange program with the Soviet Union.

The committee of 17 residents said in its telegram that funds are available to the President under the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961.

Last Thursday, Dean Leonard Zion of Brandeis University, active in the Citizens Exchange Corps, suggested the trip during a talk with Dr. Thomas Robinson, president of Glassboro State College.

Under the proposal, the 100 Glassboro residents would make the trip with a group of 130 the corps is sending to Russia on July 14.

Prayer and Skill Gets Good Results

NEW DELHI (AP) — An Indian medical practitioner says that he combines prayer with his professional skill to good effect in curing his patients.

Popularly known as Swami Rama, he lives in Kashmir and is engaged in prayers when he is not treating patients.

He says that more things are wrought by prayer than what we dream of. It is not miracle but an easily explainable factor, he says.

Rama says this method was perfected by seers whose very touch healed hitherto declared incurable diseases. "Jesus was one such and did he not restore sight to the blind?" he asks.

Linda Spires Is Wed To Roger Diffendal

MRS. ROGER DIFFENDAL

Nuptial vows were repeated Friday evening by Miss Linda Spires and Roger Diffendal. The Rev. John B. Morgan officiated at the 7:30 ceremony in Scioto Chapel EUB Church at Robtown.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Tracy Spires of Circleville, wore a gown fashioned of candlelight satin, with a scoop neckline, long pointed-tip sleeves and detachable train. Her fingertip veil was held by a small crown composed of satin, net and seed pearls. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry. A cascade bouquet of yellow feathered mums and tiny yellow rosebuds carried out her chosen colors.

Miss Karen Maxwell of Derby, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length pale green dress, with short sleeves and detachable train, a waistline bow of avocado green accented the color of the gown. Her bluish veil was of pale green with an avocado green bow. A pendant of jade was her gift from the bride. Her bouquet was also of feathered yellow mums and rosebuds.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Garters a Snappy Prom Souvenir

DEAR ABBY: When our 16-year-old daughter went to the school prom, she had to have a fancy garter to wear that night so she could give it to her escort as a souvenir afterward!

We suggested she give him a ribbon from her hair, or a flower from her corsage as we have always considered garters as a part of underwear.

Maybe the next move will be for the boy to ask his date for her girdle or bra!

What is happening to our young people anyway?

LACKAWANNA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Giving one's escort her garter for a souvenir is not new, and really not very wicked. Don't worry about the other. Were a young man to ask for a girdle or a bra, he'd probably wind up with a snappy comeback.

DEAR ABBY: Last year we put in a swimming pool and we told all our neighbors they could come to swim any time.

Most of them have, on occasion, but they have all had the good sense to phone first.

Our problem is a young mother. She came every morning bringing her two small children and their lunches. They stayed all day. Not once did she phone to ask if we were having guests, etc. When we were not home she'd come anyway and use our kitchen and bathroom. (Our housekeeper told us.)

Then the rainy season set in and we didn't see her for 4 months.

Today, the first nice day, she's back! And from her conversation she plans to spend the summer around our pool again.

I suppose we should have said something to her long ago. But we didn't. Now what do we do?

UN Hunts Action To Save Red Face

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diehard diplomats at the United Nations cast about today for a face-saving token resolution on the Middle East after rival demands for Israel's withdrawal from Arab soil failed to pass the General Assembly.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan called an afternoon meeting to "finalize" the work of the emergency session that began June 17.

But some delegates expressed belief that if the assembly recessed for a few days, they could muster the needed two-thirds majority for a vaguely worded draft expounding general principles and shunting the real issues back to the Security Council.

The 122-nation assembly defeated four resolutions Tuesday calling on Israel to withdraw its troops from land occupied in Egypt, Syria and Jordan during the June war.

The assembly overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling on Israel to rescind its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem and a Swedish proposal appealing for aid for Arab refugees and other victims of the Arab-Israeli war.

As the delegates gathered to vote, an Israeli military spokesman announced in Tel Aviv that Israeli antiaircraft fire hit and apparently downed an Egyptian jet fighter and drove off a second plane in the eastern Sinai near Suez.

An Egyptian military spokesman in Cairo denied the Israeli claim.

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Friday for R.W. Rhoades, 54, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the Niles Publishing Co., publisher of the Niles (Ohio) Daily Times. As the delegates gathered to vote, an Israeli military spokesman announced in Tel Aviv that Israeli antiaircraft fire hit and apparently downed an Egyptian jet fighter and drove off a second plane in the eastern Sinai near Suez.

An Egyptian military spokesman in Cairo denied the Israeli claim.

The assembly's failure to call for Israeli withdrawal in the climactic votes Tuesday night was viewed as a sharp setback for the Soviet Union, which had called for the emergency session and sent Premier Alexei N. Kosygin here to press its case.

The assembly roundly defeated a Soviet draft demanding condemnation of Israel and action to force a pullback of Israeli forces.

The assembly first turned down a proposal submitted by Yugoslavia and 17 other non-aligned nations with Soviet support for unconditional Israeli withdrawal. The vote was 53 in favor, 4 opposed, with 20 abstentions, short of the two-thirds majority required.

The assembly also rejected a resolution sponsored by 20 Latin-American nations which called for the Israeli withdrawal but linked it to an end to the 19-year-old Arab state of war against Israel. The vote was 57 for, 43 against, with 20 abstentions.

Also defeated were Albanian and Cuban resolutions demanding condemnation of Israel.

The outcome left the question of Israeli troop withdrawal and future peace moves up in the air. These issues probably will be returned to the Security Council.

Ohio Resorts See Annual Rowdie Troop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From as far north as Lake Erie to Russell's Point, the perennial trouble spot in Western Ohio, young holiday revelers whooped it up over the Fourth of July with police moving into two Ohio resort areas to quell disturbances.

About 50 college-age rowdies took part in a bottle-throwing disturbance Tuesday at Middle Bass Island, just off Put-In-Bay along Lake Erie.

Seventeen persons were arrested during the incident which apparently was touched off by a remark one of the youths made to a woman, according to Put-In-Bay Police Chief Ernest Owen. Those arrested, including six girls, were jailed on charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

There was "so much broken glass around you couldn't even walk," Owen said after the ruckus in the vicinity of the winery.

Richard Speier, 37, of Cleveland suffered a severely slashed eye when hit with a broken wine bottle. Several other persons suffered slight cuts from flying bottles.

The "annual" disturbances at Russell's Point, the Indian Lake resort in Logan County, were kept under control this year due to a beefed-up police force.

Deputy sheriffs and police tossed a few tear gas bombs to rout a crowd of youths after a dance hall closed early Tuesday. Officials estimated that possibly 500 teen-age youths were involved in the brief disturbance, which lasted less than a half hour.

Some threw stones at motorists and set off firecrackers. About 35 youths were arrested.

Negro Teacher Writes Of Struggle at School

EDITOR'S NOTE—Eleanor Curry, a Negro, spent the 1966-67 school year as a teacher's aide in an all-white San Mateo elementary school in the San Francisco Peninsula. Here is her story as told in the district publication, Intercom.

By ELEANOR CURRY
SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Only a few days after I reported for duty last October, a 5-year-old described me to her mother. "There's somebody at school who dresses like our teacher and talks like her, but she's very, very dark. What is she?"

I don't know how her mother responded, but the next day the youngster ran up to me smiling and said, "Come stand by me. I'll help you say the Pledge of Allegiance so you can learn about our country."

It was a somewhat shattering introduction to an experience that has turned out to be rewarding and revealing to me, and I hope meaningful and constructive to the children who at first regarded me as something from a museum.

As a Negro, as the mother of eight children, and as a citizen deeply concerned about education in our community, I had hoped that I could make a contribution to the school district as a teacher's aide.

Some days I mixed paints, read a story or helped with a puppet show, depending upon the needs of the teachers and children in two kindergarten classes to which I was assigned. During the lunch hour I organized games and supervised the play of older children.

At first the children were polite and curious about me—too polite, I thought later, when they looked away if I happened to catch their eye.

Then the questions started coming. Rarely were they insulting or malicious; more often they were hesitant, tentative and honestly curious.

Since I was learning, too, how best to adapt my skills to the needs of each teacher and individual child, I could appreciate the children's needs to learn more about me.

There were those who found it hard to believe that my hands were not always dirty, and I really was brown all over. Some decided that I had to be from Africa.

Soon I stopped wondering whether the children would ac-

Ohio Legislature

At Least They Know Now Their Seats Are Theirs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tax-minded Ohio legislators return from an extended holiday recess today assured of the legality of the seats they hold but confronted with an old and familiar problem.

The Ohio Supreme Court, taking weekend play from administration proposals to hike taxes $252 million for education, ruled the apportionment plan under which the current general assembly was elected, was legally drafted.

It had been challenged in a suit that contended that the State Apportionment Board acted illegally in devising it because the constitution says the board may act only after the federal census every 10 years. The court held 5-2 that the board did act properly.

Although the decision ended uncertainty over the present temporary plan, the lawmakers still must devise and win voter approval of a permanent plan. Efforts already are under way.

The Senate Elections, Commerce, and Labor Committee has called for testimony Thursday on one Republican-drafted plan and another offered under bipartisan sponsorship. And State Democratic Headquarters said it would have one ready by the end of next week.

The administration's tax proposals were scheduled for further hearings in the House Taxation Committee and the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Up for consideration by the House group was a bill permitting counties to levy a tax on utility bills up to 5 per cent to raise local matching money for welfare.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney's Ways and Means Committee has the omnibus tax bill that is under fire from retailers and others because of a proposed 1 per cent tax on gross receipts. There already are widespread predictions the proposal will be scrapped, possibly in favor of an increase from 3 per cent to 4 per cent in the state sales tax.

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. foreign policy is at a turning point although, like other turns in American history, at the moment it seems more sensed than seen.

The New Deal is a good previous example of how this country, when it has to break with the past, must feel its way along. A new direction had to be found when the depression hit over 30 years ago.

It was learned only gradually that the government must take responsibility for the general welfare. All the social legislation since has been based on that concept although it wasn't until 1946 that Congress said so flatly.

When the United States got into World War II it seemed likely, but not certain, it would now at last shake off its ancient isolationism, something it did not do after World War I.

Its first gesture toward a new internationalism was helping create the United Nations in 1945. But it wasn't until 1947, with Greece and Turkey under Communist pressure, that a new, far-ranging foreign policy was laid down.

President Harry S. Truman did it with his doctrine that this country would support "free people who are resisting attempted subjugation" and trying to work out their "own destiny."

Truman could afford to be so sweeping at that time when, in a way, the United States was master of the world. It alone had the atomic bomb in 1947. But all that followed had its roots in the Truman Doctrine: the Marshall Plan of economic aid, breaking Stalin's Berlin blockade, the defense of South Korea against invasion from North Korea, sending troops into the Dominican Republic and involvement in Vietnam.

The United States became extremely cautious about knocking heads with the Soviet Union after Moscow developed its own hydrogen weapons. This was a two-way street. The Soviets became cautious about the United States, except for Nikita Khrushchev's one big goof when he tried to put missiles in Cuba.

A good example of this double caution was the way the United States and the Soviet Union pussy-footed around the crisis in the Middle East where, if they got directly involved, they would have been on opposite sides.

But the sorest chapter in the

cans, at least—has been the Vietnam involvement, a slow, gradual thing until now almost 500,000 U. S. troops are in the war.

For Americans it's bad enough to be in a war at all. But even though its purpose is to prevent a Communist takeover.

That's enough to make Congress and the policy-makers reluctant to get involved in anything like it often or soon again.

But something else has happened. The United States would never permit Moscow or Red China to intrude in its own backyard, like Latin American. When the United States barged into China's backyard in this war in Southeast Asia, the Chinese were no match, except in ground forces, for American military power.

But now they have had their hydrogen explosions and in a few years no doubt will have enough hydrogen bombs and missiles to risk a war with this country. The United States will have to be far more cautious than it was when it decided to go into Vietnam.

In time China will almost certainly feel about an American intrusion anywhere in the Asian area as this country would feel about Chinese intrusion in the American area. Thus a change in American foreign policy is inevitable.

And even in economic aid the policy is likely to become more selective, for although the United States has pumped out billions to help other countries—with a desire, of course, to keep them in the American camp—the results have not all been happy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. foreign policy is at a turning point although, like other turns in American history, at the moment it seems more sensed than seen.

The New Deal is a good previous example of how this country, when it has to break with the past, must feel its way along. A new direction had to be found when the depression hit over 30 years ago.

It was learned only gradually that the government must take responsibility for the general welfare. All the social legislation since has been based on that concept although it wasn't until 1946 that Congress said so flatly.

When the United States got into World War II it seemed likely, but not certain, it would now at last shake off its ancient isolationism, something it did not do after World War I.

Its first gesture toward a new internationalism was helping create the United Nations in 1945. But it wasn't until 1947, with Greece and Turkey under Communist pressure, that a new, far-ranging foreign policy was laid down.

President Harry S. Truman did it with his doctrine that this country would support "free people who are resisting attempted subjugation" and trying to work out their "own destiny."

Truman could afford to be so sweeping at that time when, in a way, the United States was master of the world. It alone had the atomic bomb in 1947. But all that followed had its roots in the Truman Doctrine: the Marshall Plan of economic aid, breaking Stalin's Berlin blockade, the defense of South Korea against invasion from North Korea, sending troops into the Dominican Republic and involvement in Vietnam.

A good example of this double caution was the way the United States and the Soviet Union pussy-footed around the crisis in the Middle East where, if they got directly involved, they would have been on opposite sides.

But the sorest chapter in the Truman Doctrine—for Americans, at least—has been the Vietnam involvement, a slow, gradual thing until now almost 500,000 U. S. troops are in the war.

For Americans it's bad enough to be in a war at all. But this is a totally frustrating war. It is against a primitive people and the United States is fighting with one hand tied behind its back. It is not using anything like its full power. Nuclear bombs, for instance.

Not only American lives and money have been spent in Vietnam, but the criticism at home and elsewhere has been intense. For one thing, this country can't afford continuous wars like this, even though its purpose is to prevent a Communist takeover.

That's enough to make Congress and the policy-makers reluctant to get involved in anything like it often or soon again.

But something else has happened. The United States would never permit Moscow or Red China to intrude in its own backyard, like Latin America. When the United States barged into China's backyard in this war in Southeast Asia, the Chinese were no match, except in ground forces, for American military power.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board has ordered a San Francisco lumber firm to reinstate a worker and said the company interjected itself into his domestic affairs in hopes he would quit the Teamsters Union.

The NLRB found that the Goodman Lumber Co. illegally persuaded Freeman Parker Sr. to pressure his son, Freeman Jr., into dropping his union membership.

Freeman Jr. didn't quit the Teamsters but he did quit his job in the warehouse where his father worked after his mother threatened to leave home because of the constant quarreling, according to testimony in the case.

Company officials said they wanted the father to persuade the son to quit the union but not his job.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Joint Senate-House Economic Committee wants Congress to delay action on any tax increase.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said he doesn't believe the present economic situation shows the need for an immediate tax increase. President Johnson has called for a six per cent surcharge on income taxes.

Proxmire said his view is supported by testimony before his committee from leading economists. But he said that if the federal deficit becomes so big this year that it stimulates strong inflationary pressures, "then we will have to consider means of alleviating these pressures."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of 15 House Republicans charges the Johnson administration with neglecting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and undermining its unity and vitality.

It blamed the administration "for unilateral actions pursued without consultation with NATO partners, for refusing to accommodate legitimate allied demands and interests, and for routine employment of allies as mere executors of American military doctrine."

The group, headed by Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, said President Charles de Gaulle of France must share responsibility for what it termed NATO's continuing decline. But it added that the "contradictory nature" of America's approach

These are the confident words of a film director with the wildly implausible name of Theodore J. Flicker. It sounds like a character Groucho Marx might have played if he had ever made a movie about Hollywood.

But Flicker now faces his big challenge with "T.P.A." which he has been filming here and in Washington, D.C., after initial scenes at the Paramount Studios in Hollywood. The initials stand for "The President's Analyst," who is played by James Coburn.

"I first met Jim in Paris while I was on vacation, and he was making 'Charade,'" Flicker explained. "Then last Christmas we met at a party at George Peppard's house, and Jim remarked that he was free of commitments until August 1, told him about my script. He read it, thought it was groovy, and we went to Paramount and made a deal."

The plot typifies Flicker's offbeat view of things: a psychiatrist is hired by the CIA to analyze a mentally disturbed president of the United States. Abortion Law Disputes Rage Hotly This Year

CHICAGO (AP) — Forces fighting for liberalization of the nation's abortion laws scored their greatest gains this year—and suffered some resounding defeats.

The Colorado, North Carolina and California legislatures passed laws broadening the circumstances under which doctors can legally perform abortions.

The Indiana Legislature passed an abortion liberalization law, but Gov. Roger Branigan vetoed it. "It offends the moral principles of a large proportion of our citizens," he said.

In a related development, the American Medical Association changed a policy that has stood since 1871 and adopted a liberal stand on abortion. The action came at its annual convention in Atlantic City, N.J., in June.

But moves to change laws on abortion were killed or put over by Legislatures in Connecticut, Nevada, Michigan, Iowa, Maryland, New Mexico, New York and Tennessee.

Colorado became the first state to adopt in full recommendations made in 1959 by the American Law Institute in a model penal code on abortion. North Carolina followed suit a few weeks later.

An overwhelming majority of the states permit abortions only when a woman's life is endangered by pregnancy.

The institute, made up of lawyers working with doctors, recommended that therapeutic or legal abortions also should be permitted if:

—Continuance of pregnancy would gravely impair the physical or mental health of the mother.

—There was significant risk that the child would be born with physical or mental defect.

—Pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

The American Medical Association went along with all these conditions in its new policy, but the California law omits the provision dealing with possible deformed births. That section was removed to meet objections by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The AMA's 1871 policy statement deemed it unethical for a physician to induce abortion "without the concurrent opinion of at least one other physician and then always with a view to the safety of the child, if that be possible."

The AMA committee recommending the changes called this antiquated and inadequate.

The Roman Catholic Church is the leading opponent of liberalizing abortion laws. The church regards abortion as murder.

In Nevada, however, the Legislature rejected a liberalization bill after two Mormon senators joined Roman Catholic spokesmen in opposing the measure.

Sen. James Gibson said the liberalization proposals would open a Pandora's box. He said his wife was advised to end her last two pregnancies but that the Gibsons left the matter "in higher hands" and that both babies were born without harm to themselves or their mother.

Sen. Vernon Bunker, also a Mormon, read a letter from a Los Angeles physician saying the proposals would reject the fundamental belief in the sanctity of human life.

But Unitarian and Congregational clergymen endorsed a liberalization bill which died in a legislative committee in Iowa; the American Lutheran Church and the American Baptist Convention supported a liberalization bill in the Ohio Legislature.

An abortion liberalization bill was killed in committee in New York after considerable controversy and opposition from Roman Catholics.

Assemblyman Albert H. Blumenthal of Manhattan said he would give his liberalization proposal a new twist at the next legislative session.

He said his new proposal would permit physicians and institutions to refuse to perform such surgery if it conflicted with their religious beliefs. Blumenthal said this provision was designed to resolve objections of Roman Catholics.

Proponents of liberalized abortion, including the Planned Parenthood World Population organization, predict new attempts will be made in states where liberalization proposals have been defeated and in other states where changes have not been proposed.

The AMA estimated that 10,000 abortions were performed in U.S. hospitals each year and that few of these were necessary to save the mother's life.

"American medicine is therefore confronted with a situation whereby conscientious practitioners performing therapeutic abortions for reasons other than those posing a direct threat to the life of the mother are acting contrary to existing laws," the AMA said.

Proponents of more liberal abortion laws point to sharp differences in state laws. In New Jersey, a doctor convicted of causing a patient's death by an illegal abortion can be sentenced to 15 years in prison and fined $5,000.

In Alabama, the convicted doctor could receive as little as a $100 fine and less than a year in prison.

Proponents of liberalization also point to several foreign countries which have lifted various abortion restrictions and claim that abortion mills have sprung up in Mexico across the border from California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Here are some typical remarks of proponents and opponents of liberalized abortion laws:

Dr. Carl Goldmark Jr., associate attending obstetrician-gynecologist at New York's Lenox Hill Hospital: "A woman denied the right of therapeutic abortion seeks out the criminal abortionist to attain her goal. It is an accepted axiom today that as the therapeutic abortion rate goes down, the criminal abortion rate goes up. As the criminal abortion rate goes up, the maternal death rate from abortion rises. The total number of abortions in a community, therapeutic and criminal, remains constant."

Dr. J. Grant Harrison of Garden City, N.Y., president of the Catholic Physicians Guild of New York State: "When a woman contracts rubella (baby-forming German measles) in early pregnancy, the incidence of abnormalities varies from 10 percent to 30 percent. Abortion for rubella would mean the intentional destruction of 70 percent to 90 percent of normal fetuses to avoid the birth of a child whose defect may only be a decrease in hearing."

English Roses Deemed More Than an Ordinary Flower

By JOSEPH WHITT
Central Press Association

LONDON — "A rose is a rose," wrote author Gertrude Stein. Not so in England. Here a rose is definitely more than a rose.

The director of a famous rose firm was recently accused by a competitor of exhibiting roses under the wrong name. The director at once defended his reputation. He hired a rose specialist, held press conferences, and carried his case to the highest authority — the National Rose Society.

The case was settled out of court, but the rose expert felt compelled to say, "Rose-growers must keep their tempers. The rose mustn't be degraded. It plays a significant role in English tradition."

If Queen Elizabeth should drive through the town of Hungerford, the expert said, the local constable has the right to stop her carriage (more likely an automobile nowadays) and to offer her a red Lancastrian rose.

This ritual goes back to John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, who granted the town the privilege of fishing in the local river. This ritual started in the 14th century, as did the Knollys Red Rose Rent. Each year at London church—All Hallows by the Tower — pays the lord mayor of London with a rose.

Sir Robert Knollys came back from a medieval war and found that his wife had had a bridge built between the two houses they owned. This caused an obstruction and the city officials ordered him to pay the lord mayor an annual rent of a red rose.

"Today the church still pays this floral rent — even though the property no longer exists and legally this payment is not required," the expert said.

The ceremony of the Lilies and the Roses is a similar ritual. A certain Sir John Withers was so attached to his old schools — Eton and Cambridge — that he stipulated in his will (made in 1939) that King Henry VI, who died in 1471, should be honored.

King Henry was responsible for founding Eton and Cambridge. To commemorate this,

Bank Robber Escapes Jail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Greenfield man recently convicted for bank robbery escaped from the Franklin County Jail Tuesday.

Sheriff's deputies said Edson Lee Nolan, 24, being held as a federal prisoner, cut a hole in the ceiling of his cell at the antiquated jail and made his way to freedom.

Nolan was convicted by a U.S. District Court jury here June 23 in the holdup last Feb. 21 of the Frankfort branch of the Citizens National Bank of Chillicothe.

Two other Greenfield men, Charles and Kenneth Dorman, brothers, also are charged in the robbery. They have not been tried.

Lorain Union Votes on Contract

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Members of Local 925, Allied Industrial Workers, will vote Thursday on a new contract agreement with Fruehauf Corp.

The three-year agreement was reached Monday night by company and union negotiators, but the terms were not disclosed pending the vote by the 1,800 union members who have been on strike at the company's Avon Lake plant since May 16.

Papa Doc Sends For His Priest

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Papa Doc's chauffeur tears 30 miles through sisal fields and salt marshes to fetch Antoine, a voodoo priest in a worn-out bowling shirt.

Like a doctor on a house call, Antoine packs what he will need for the president: a golden spirit-summoning bell bright with filigree, a whisky carton where he stores little open-necked bottles supposed to house the essence of lost soul, and a deck of card tucked into the shirt pocket on which his wife has stitched "President D. for life."

Haiti's ruler, Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier, 60, has called Antoine to his home again and has sent a chauffeur and a sub-machine gunner—standard equipment with any government car—to pick him up at his farm near Croix des Bouquets.

Then it is back along wash-board roads that shake new cars into jalopies in months, past the control points where the Ton Ton Macoute guards shoulder automatic rifles, and finally down the streets of Port au Prince's Pig Hole district to the palace where a neon sign blinks through the night, "I am the Haitian revolution—Dr. Francois Duvalier."

Antoine says he and the president squat side by side in the palace's dirt-floor basement and talk of Damballah, the god who looks like a snake and lives in a tree, and some times Baron Samedi, the malevolent zombie who dresses in top hat and tails.

"I only help, he's No. 1 here," says Antoine, tapping at his temple in admiration as he talks of Papa Doc. "He knows it all."

He tells this to a visitor to his farm and its outdoor voodoo altar pile with empty cognac and rum bottles, a crucifix, pictures of saints and a turtle shell.

Antoine is pleased to talk because he is not aware a foreigner might consider voodoo an odd interest for a head of state.

The priest's specialty is questions about the future, and when they come, the broad-shouldered man's amber eyes roll back, his hand comes to his forehead and pinches tight as if working some clairvoyant vise, and the answer starts as suddenly as the wind when it cuts through his cane fields.

Most often, like men everywhere, says Antoine, Papa Doc wants to know about his enemies. Then the job is simple: "I show him the faces."

Most educated Haitians are christened, married and sent to the grave by the Roman Catholic Church and feel embarrassed when conversation turns to voodoo's hold on people. To them this "showing of the faces" is the priest's main function with Papa Doc.

"It's not important whether Duvalier believes in it or not, although I would think he might," said a Haitian accountant.

For a casual visitor to his house, Antoine offers to do "some work on the people who don't like you back in the United States." It costs a little more than the handful of American dollars and a bottle of rum that he gets for an ordinary consultation and involves the chancy business of making people uncomfortable through incantation, picture burning and elephant.

Fast Trotting Field Set For Scioto Downs Stake

Twelve of the nation's fastest 3-year-old trotters will go post-ward Friday night in the $10,100 Challenge Stakes at Scioto Downs.

Holding down a slight edge on the early morning line is the Gene Riegler stable entry of High N Away and Tidal Hanover. High N Away, a blistering bay daughter of Bombs Away, was the sport's leading race winning 2-year-old trotter last year with 23 victories.

Last week she was just beaten by Helen's Adonis in 2:03 2-5 Tidal Hanover's best effort this year was second place finish

Alston Names 9 for Lineup Of All-Star

CINCINNATI (AP) — If the need arises, Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, can do some juggling with his National League line-up in the annual major league All-Star Game at Anaheim July 11.

Alston named nine players today to go with the starting players, and the pitchers he previously named.

The nine are:

Catchers Tom Haller of San Francisco and Tim McCarver of St. Louis; infielders Ernie Banks of Chicago and Tommy Helms and Tony Perez of Cincinnati, and Mays of San Francisco, Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Rusty Staub and Jim Wynn of Houston.

Selection of Mays, fourth in the balloting for the three starting outfield positions, means the Giant star will keep at least part of his All-Star team record. He had been picked for the starting line-up ever since 1957 until this year. He has an All-Star Game batting average of .379.

Banks is second in seniority with 12 games and a .290 batting average. He finished third in the balloting by players.

The full 25-man roster shows St. Louis with four players, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Atlanta and Houston with three each; Chicago and Los Angeles with two each and New York and Philadelphia with one each.

Niekros Fight Own Civil War In Big Leagues

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — As in the Civil War, brother faced brother.

Only this time, it was major league baseball history being made as brothers faced each other in the role of starting pitchers for the first time.

On the mound was Joe Niekro for the Chicago Cubs and Phil Niekro Jr. for the Atlanta Braves. And in the stands was Phil Niekro Sr., proud father of the Niekro brothers, who had made his first airplane trip to see his sons pitch.

The younger Phil, his famous knuckleball teasing Cub batters with its wily butterfly actions, allowed Chicago only four hits as the Braves snapped their winning streak at seven games, 8-3.

How did Phil Sr. feel about it? "I wanted a good game for both of them. I wanted a low score duel. I wanted to see both of them win... but, of course, knew they couldn't."

The senior Niekro, a 54-year-old former amateur pitcher from Lansing, Ohio, taught his son to throw the knuckler.

"I never dreamed I'd have two boys in the big leagues," he beamed.

Lindsey Wins Week-Long Tilt

Lindsey won a tilt with Kiwanis, 13-12, that lasted almost a week.

The original contest began June 27 but had to be suspended with the score knotted, 12-12. Monday the two Babe Ruth teams met with the Bakers marking a run in the tenth frame.

Steve Thomas and Don Cordle pitched for the winners, each going five. Together they walked 11, fanned 12 and allowed 12 hits.

Barnes, Dresbach and Lightle shared mound chores for Kiwanis, scattering 12 hits, walking nine and striking out 11.

Werte Teets tripled for the winners. Jack Easter doubled. Barnes tagged the only extra baser for Kiwanis, a double.

to Speedy C last week in 2:05 2-5. Rating co-choices in the number two spot on the morning line are Flying Cloud from Santa Monica, Calif. and Angelo Pick reined by Ohio's won Joe Marsh.

Flying Cloud, trained and driven by Jack Williams, has improved with each race this year. He has had six starts and his past performance chart shows 6-5-4-3-2-1 place finishes. In his last start at The Meadows, Flying Cloud scored in 2:04 1-5.

Angelo Pick, owned and driven by Joe Marsh, Jr. of Richmond, Ohio, won in 2:03 in his last race at The Meadows.

Dr. Frank Todd's Special Product posted a best time with a sterling come from behind win in 2:04 4-5 at Lexington, Ky.

The winning combination of Jim Hackett and Samuel Huttenbauer will come back in the 3-year-old trotting division for a shot at their sixth Challenge Stakes trophy with the slick-gaited Sanders Hanover. Having already won a 2-year-old pace and a 3-year-old pace division trophy by Best of All, and three 4-year-old trotting division trophies with Lucy's Victory, Sasebo, and Be Sweet, trainer-driver Jim Hackett will leave the gate from the number four post position with Sanders Hanover, a handsome bay son of Hickory Smoke, who in only one start this year was clocked in a speedy 2:10 2-5.

One of the nation's leading Grand Circuit drivers, Joe O'Brien will send his second trainer Tom Ratchford into Scioto to drive Fire Blaze in the Friday stake event, and Tom Ryan will drive his own Listo Dean, a recent purchase from the Stanley Dancer stable.

Emil Scherler drew the number seven post position with his own Speedy Ros, a brown son of Speedster. Scioto Downs regulars making a start in the Challenge Stakes include Lady Aries with George Uristi up, Wingait Brandee reined by Dick Buxton, and Mike W with the talented Russell Baldwin in the sulky.

Friday's co-featured event is a $3,000 Preferred Trot, and the field includes Fair March, Gracious Lad, Egyptian Song, Guy Yates, Miss Van Winkle, Venture Gal, and Mighty Victory.

Saturday night, Craig Creed will be back to defend his laurels in the $4,000 Invitational Pace. Owned and driven by Elmer Conrad, Craig Creed dazzled his opponents two weeks ago with a victory in 1:59 3-5. Among the opposition Saturday night will be Bank Time, the 2:01 4-5 winner last week, Bye Time who won 2:01 1-5, Tuxedo Hanover from the Curly Smart stable, and Gayliner reined by Emmor Bailly.

Laurelville Coach Quits

Dick Graham, head basketball coach at Laurelville, has resigned his teaching and coaching duties to continue in a supervisory capacity at Logan Good-year plant where he accepted summer employment.

During his tenure as coach of the Wildcats, the team posted a 13-7 record, winning a share of the Scioto Valley Conference cage crown. He was named SVC coach of the year.

Graham and his wife and one-year-old son will move from Laurelville to Logan or Lancaster in the near future.

A replacement for Graham has not yet been named by the Laurelville Board of Education. Other vacancies in the teaching staff include vocational agriculture and commercial teachers.

Cincinnati Reds Defeat St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Gary Nolan knows exactly what to say to his elders, especially his manager, Dave Bristol.

"He said 'Yes sir,' when I went to the mound in the ninth inning," Bristol said after Cincinnati's 19-year-old pitcher fired a three-hitter past the St. Louis Cardinals for a 1-0 victory in their July 4th single game.

"I went out there to tell him it was his game win or lose and that he deserved to win. He just listened and said 'Yes sir,'" Bristol explained.

The Reds scored in the top of the ninth on a single by Pete Rose and Deron Johnson's double off loser Larry Jaster (5-4) after one out. Despite the loss to Cincinnati, the Cardinals remained in first place after Atlanta swept two games from the Chicago Cubs.

Bristol made the trip to the mound after a two-out single by Curt Flood and a walk to Roger Maris. Orlando Cepeda waited on deck while the Reds discussed the situation.

"I knew he wasn't taking me out in the ninth inning," the young right-hander said. "I just wanted to pitch to the last man."

BATTING — Rico Carty, Braves, slugged three singles, a double and two home runs in seven at bats, driving in five runs and scoring three as Atlanta swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 3-3 and 4-2.

Best Ball 35 Wins at Lansdowne

The teams of Russ and Van Gregg and Gale and Ron Leatherwood tied for top honors in the best ball twosome event at Upper Lansdowne yesterday, posting identical scores of 35.

In second place in the event were Bob Schweitzer and Ed Johnson. Alex Cook and Pat Rooney won the Flag Tourney.

"It never even occurred to me that Cepeda is leading the league in hitting," Nolan said. "I just knew I could get him out."

Cepeda, who had singled in the seventh, hit Nolan's first pitch to left fielder Lee May.

Bristol says Nolan is "the most impressive kid I've ever seen."

Deron Johnson agreed with Bristol's views on the kid and added, "his record should be better than seven and two. He's been in a lot of no-decision games where he's gone into the ninth inning with the score tied."

Young Nolan issued a walk in the first inning and allowed a single to Mike Shannon in the second. After that, he turned back 15 batters in a row until Cepeda's single.

Jaster had been quite effective against the Reds until the ninth. After Johnson's double, he purposely passed May and then filled the bases by walking Dick Simpson one out later. At that point, Joe Hoerner took over and got Nolan out on a bounce to first base.

The series continues tonight with the Reds' Jim Maloney (5-4) going against rookie Jim Cosman (1-0).

David Hudson Wins at Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — David Hudson posted his first victory in eight starts to win the $1,300 featured race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night.

Going postward at 5-2, the 6-year-old gelding paid $7.20, $6.40 and $4.60.

The 4-6 daily double combination of Lady Bird Truax and Miss Jerry Lee paid $17.80.

Fast Trotting Field Set For Scioto Downs Stake

Twelve of the nation's fastest 3-year-old trotters will go post-race Friday night in the $10,100 Challenge Stakes at Scioto Downs.

Holding down a slight edge on the early morning line is the Gene Riegle stable entry of High N Away and Tidal Hanover. High N Away, a blistering bay daughter of Bombs Away, was the sport's leading race winning 2-year-old trotter last year with 23 victories.

Last week she was just beaten by Helen's Adonis in 2:03 2/5 Tidal Hanover's best effort this year was second place finish

Alston Names 9 for Lineup Of All-Star

CINCINNATI (AP) — If the need arises, Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, can do some juggling with his National League line-up in the annual major league All-Star Game at Anaheim July 11.

Alston named nine players today to go with the starting players, and the pitchers he previously named.

The nine are:

Catchers Tom Haller of San Francisco and Tim McCarver of St. Louis; infielders Ernie Banks of Chicago and Tommy Helms and Tony Perez of Cincinnati, and Mays of San Francisco, Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Rusty Staub and Jim Wynn of Houston.

Selection of Mays, fourth in the balloting for the three starting outfield positions, means the Giant star will keep at least part of his All-Star team record. He had been picked for the starting line-up ever since 1957 until this year. He has an All-Star Game batting average of .379.

Banks is second in seniority with 12 games and a .290 batting average. He finished third in the balloting by players.

The full 25-man roster shows St. Louis with four players, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Atlanta and Houston with three each; Chicago and Los Angeles with two each and New York and Philadelphia with one each.

Niekros Fight Own Civil War In Big Leagues

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — As in the Civil War, brother faced brother.

Only this time, it was major league baseball history being made as brothers faced each other in the role of starting pitchers for the first time.

On the mound was Joe Niekro for the Chicago Cubs and Phil Niekro Jr. for the Atlanta Braves. And in the stands was Phil Niekro Sr., proud father of the Niekro brothers, who had made his first airplane trip to see his sons pitch.

The younger Phil, his famous knuckleball teasing Cub batsmen with its zany butterfly actions, allowed Chicago only four hits as the Braves snapped their winning streak at seven games, 8-3.

How did Phil Sr. feel about it? "I wanted a good game for both of them. I wanted a low score duel. I wanted to see both of them win... but, of course, knew they couldn't."

The senior Niekro, a 54-year-old former amateur pitcher from Lansing, Ohio, taught his son to throw the knuckler.

"I never dreamed I'd have two boys in the big leagues," he beamed.

Lindsey Wins Week-Long Tilt

Lindsey won a tilt with Kiwanis, 13-12, that lasted almost a week.

The original contest began June 27 but had to be suspended but the score knotted, 12-12. Monday the two Babe Ruth teams met with the Bakers marking a run in the tenth frame.

Steve Thomas and Don Cordle pitched for the winners, each going five. Together they walked 11, fanned 12 and allowed 12 hits.

Barnes, Dresbach and Lightle shared mound chores for Kiwanis, scattering 12 hits, walking nine and striking out 11.

Wertie Teets tripped for the winners. Jack Easter doubled. Barnes tagged the only extra baser for Kiwanis, a double.

to Speedy C last week in 2:05 2/5.

Rating co-choices in the number two spot on the morning line are Flying Cloud from Santa Monica, Calif. and Angelo Pick reined by Ohio's won Joe Marsh.

Flying Cloud, trained and driven by Jack Williams, has improved with each race this year. He has had six starts and his past performance chart shows 6-5-4-3-2-1 place finishes. In his last start at The Meadows, Flying Cloud scored in 2:04 1/5.

Angelo Pick, owned and driven by Joe Marsh, Jr. of Richmond, Ohio, won in 2:03 in his last race at The Meadows.

Dr. Frank Todd's Special Product posted a best time with a sterling come from behind win in 2:04 4/5 at Lexington, Ky.

The winning combination of Jim Hackett and Samuel Huttenbauer will come back in the 3-year-old trotting division for a shot at their sixth Challenge Stakes trophy with the slick-gaited Sanders Hanover. Having already won a 2-year-old pace and a 3-year-old pace division trophy by Best of All, and three 4-year-old trotting division trophies with Lucy's Victory, Sasebo, and Be Sweet, trainer-driver Jim Hackett will leave the gate from the number four post position with Sanders Hanover, a handsome bay son of Hickory Smoke, who in only one start this year was clocked in a speedy 2:10 2/5.

One of the nation's leading Grand Circuit drivers, Joe O'Brien will send his second trainer Tom Ratchford into Scioto to drive Fire Blaze in the Friday stake event, and Tom Ryan will drive his own Listo Dean, a recent purchase from the Stanley Dancer stable.

Emil Scherler drew the number seven post position with his own Speedy Ros, a brown son of Speedster. Scioto Downs regulars making a start in the Challenge Stakes include Lady Aries with George Uristi up, Wingait Brandee reined by Dick Buxton, and Mike W with the talented Russell Baldwin in the sulky.

Friday's co-featured event is a $3,000 Preferred Trot, and the field includes Fair March, Gracious Lad, Egyptian Song, Guy Yates, Miss Van Winkle, Venture Gal, and Mighty Victory.

Saturday night, Craig Creed will be back to defend his laurels in the $4,000 Invitational Pace. Owned and driven by Elmer Conrad, Craig Creed dazzled his opponents two weeks ago with a victory in 1:59 3/5.

Among the opposition Saturday night will be Bank Time, the 2:01 4/5 winner last week, Bye Time who won 2:01 1/5, Tuxedo Hanover from the Curly Smart stable, and Gayliner reined by Emmor Bailly.

Laurelville Coach Quits

Dick Graham, head basketball coach at Laurelville, has resigned his teaching and coaching duties to continue in a supervisory capacity at Logan Good-year plant where he accepted summer employment.

During his tenure as coach of the Wildcats, the team posted a 13-7 record, winning a share of the Scioto Valley Conference cage crown. He was named SVC coach of the year.

Graham and his wife and one-year-old son will move from Laurelville to Logan or Lancaster in the near future.

A replacement for Graham has not yet been named by the Laurelville Board of Education. Other vacancies in the teaching staff include vocational agriculture and commercial teachers.

Cleveland Holiday Open Won by Elder

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lee Elder, a 29-year-old pro from Washington, D. C., won the $1,500 first prize check Tuesday in the Cleveland Holiday Open Golf Championships, beating Youngstown's George Bellino in a sudden death playoff.

Elder and Bellino tied at 213 after 54 holes. Elder won on the third extra hole, taking a par five to Bellino's bogey.

Cincinnati Reds Defeat St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Gary Nolan knows exactly what to say to his elders, especially his manager, Dave Bristol.

"He said 'Yes sir,' when I went to the mound in the ninth inning," Bristol said after Cincinnati's 19-year-old pitcher fired a three-hitter past the St. Louis Cardinals for a 1-0 victory in their July 4th single game.

"I went out there to tell him it was his game win or lose and that he deserved to win. He just listened and said 'Yes sir,'" Bristol explained.

The Reds scored in the top of the ninth on a single by Pete Rose and Deron Johnson's double off loser Larry Jaster (5-4) after one out. Despite the loss to Cincinnati, the Cardinals remained in first place after Atlanta swept two games from the Chicago Cubs.

Bristol made the trip to the mound after a two-out single by Curt Flood and a walk to Roger Maris. Orlando Cepeda waited on deck while the Reds discussed the situation.

"I knew he wasn't taking me out in the ninth inning," the young right-hander said. "I just wanted to pitch to the last man."

The Cincinnati swimmers were able to pick up 19 first place wins, with five of them in the breaststroke events, and four in the butterfly events.

In freestyle, the local swimmers were able to get three firsts, and in backstroke only one first. The Circleville diving team won their portion of the meet, getting three firsts, and in the all important relay swim events, the locals got only two wins, by the 12 and under girls medley-relay and the 10 and under girls freestyle relay.

On Thursday night, Circleville will be hosts at the local pool for a Central Ohio Swim League meet, with the visiting team being the Swim and Racquet Club from Columbus. Diving events scheduled to begin at 6:30.

Last Saturday, 24 of the local swim team members took part in the Gahanna Invitational, with four of the swimmers scoring a total of 12 team points.

Debbie Shea paced the locals winning a second place in the 100 meter breaststroke for girls age 15, 16 and 17. Phillip Wrist was 5th in the 50 meter backstroke for boys age 9 and 10. Also scoring fifth place wins were Eerie Fortell in the 100 meter breaststroke for boys age 13 and 14, and Mark Ralston in the 100 meter freestyle for boys age 15, 16 and 17.

New Breed of Toy Swine Used in Drug Research

By JAMES N. MILLER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

BELTSVILLE, Md. — Nobody would want to poke fun at F. L. Earl or J. C. Taylor. They are serious scientists performing vital jobs in this government testing laboratory for dozens of research projects, all important to the health or welfare of the nation.

Even so, Earl and Taylor are working with hogs and "toy" ones, at that. This fact makes them especially vulnerable to jokes. But these particular hogs are research animals, a new kind which may eventually be used to replace the conventional guinea pigs for testing new drugs.

The National Academy of Sciences reports that "research animals in general are a $2.9 million market today"; while other authoritative sources say this market will rise to $6 million by 1970.

The new hog being developed by Earl and Taylor is not only a white animal, but a miniature variety, only about one-third the standard size.

Why a hog? Toxicologist Early of the Food and Drug Administration explains that hogs are "physiologically more like primates than non-primates, and they are subject to many of the same maladies. Hogs, for example, have similar requirements for food, and they digest it in much the same way. They also suffer from peptic ulcers. A hog's heart and major blood vessels are much like ours. And hogs can get a form of hardening of the arteries, caused by fat deposits."

However, there's a big drawback to using commercial breeds of hogs for testing drugs: the animals grow too large. And big hogs not only require large doses of experimental drugs; they also are expensive to house and hard to handle.

"For every trial, we administer doses of drugs to about 30 hogs for six months," Earl explains. "If you can imagine having to face hostile boars as heavy as 600 pounds, you can appreciate the advantages of using our small hogs."

The government doesn't claim to be the originator of the toy hog idea. "Miniature hogs," says Earl, "were first bred at the Hormel Institute at the University of Minnesota, 16 years ago. Starting with various wild and semidomesticated strains, researchers developed hogs that are genetically limited — from birth to maturity — to about one-third the size of those most commonly bred on farms."

Today's miniature herd at Beltsville was started two years ago with special attention to breeding white-skinned animals. Some people break out with a skin rash much like measles when they take antibiotics, and a white-skinned test hog will help identify drugs that cause these side effects.

Geneticist Taylor, who has charge of the project, says that learning how selection for small size affects such economically important hog traits as reproductive performance, little size, body conformation, and deposition of tissue should add to the store of basic genetic information.

The scientists also plan to explore the possibility of using miniature hogs in basic nutrition, physiology and biochemistry research. For farmers, small hogs offer a way to increase income by raising research animals on contract for investigators at thousands of research, testing and assaying laboratories throughout the country. Earl says he knows of only two commercial sources that supply miniature hogs at present—and they can't supply his needs. Animal husbandry specialists foresee the day when strains of sheep, cattle and poultry also might be developed for biological research. Scientists would need to establish techniques by which farmers could care for and maintain these animals to suit the needs of biological laboratories.

Communists Pour Fire on Marines

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy Communist rocket and artillery fire pounded U.S. Marine outposts and sweeping forces today just below the demilitarized zone where ground fighting or gun duels have raged for four days.

The U.S. Command said 15 Leathernecks were killed and 51 wounded in eight enemy barages in the past 24 hours. This brought the unofficial four-day casualty toll to 106 killed, 321 wounded and 6 missing.

The Marines have reported 168 North Vietnamese killed but believe the total enemy casualties are far higher.

Each North Vietnamese barrage was answered by the Marine guns, but the Red batteries were evidently well dug in at solidly prepared sites. Associated Press correspondent Steve Stibbens reported from the battle area that the forces of the 90th North Vietnamese Regiment, which had been fighting the Marines since Sunday, had pulled back at least temporarily.

Pushing forward to recover the bodies of Marines killed in the big battle last Sunday, the Marines ran into a rabbit warren of abandoned, battered bunkers.

Sweeping forces protected by tanks, two of which were knocked out by gunfire, have now recovered most of the missing from the opening battle Sunday. The official toll now stands at 78 Marines killed, 170 wounded and 6 still missing in that fight, in which the Marines reported at least 148 North Vietnamese killed.

While the threat along the border zone overshadowed action elsewhere, there were skirmishes and small-scale battles throughout the country Tuesday. Despite this almost all American units took a few minutes off for Fourth of July observances.

Only 11 miles west of Saigon, American soldiers and South Vietnamese rangers hit a guerrilla band with a sudden helicopter assault. In the melee, a recoilless rifle shell exploded beside a descending helicopter and wounded eight U.S. soldiers. In all, 22 Viet Cong were killed, and the assault force had one man killed and 15 wounded. American pilots, after one day of bad weather, found fair skies over much of North Vietnam Tuesday and flew 115 missions, most of them against the rail, highway and waterway network around the heavily defended Haiphong-Hanoi area.

Although returning pilots reported two MIG sightings and several barrages of Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles, no losses were reported. Hanoi radio claimed three American planes were downed.

Minor Injury In Auto Mishap

One person was slightly injured Tuesday in a two-car accident at the intersection of South Bloomfield-Royalton Road and Circleville-Groveport Pike.

Referred to a physician for a bump on his head was Gary Ferrell, Route 3, a passenger in a car driven by John D. Robinson, 16, Route 3.

According to sheriff's deputies, Robinson stopped to make a left-hand turn and was struck in the rear by another auto.

Erma Shoemaker 55, Columbus, told deputies she didn't see the Robinson auto signal. When she saw she was going to hit the car, she swerved into a guard rail and struck the Robinson vehicle.

The Columbus woman was cited by deputies for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

LET'S MAKE YOUR HOME look like a million.

New Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin looks smoother, looks glossier, looks better longer! And this means the most beautiful paint job you've ever seen, the most durable paint job your dollars can buy.

Here's why: Poly-Lin is the 100% pure polymerized linseed oil that gives Dean & Barry house paint extra smoothness, extra gloss, extra strength and toughness all the way through. No thinned-out places to prematurely weather and wear. No unsightly brush marks to spoil appearance. Dust and dirt wash off easily from the smooth, higher gloss finish. Paint jobs look better, last much longer to save important dollars for you.

No extra cost—meaning you benefit, too, because you pay nothing extra for the superior beauty and durability the new Poly-Lin blend gives. So why pay more—why take less? See us today, or have your painter-decorator come in.
